Gen. Eisenhower Flashes Stop Sign To Supporters

FORMER ARMY CHIEF STATES HE WILL NOT IDENTIFY SELF WITH ANY POLITICAL PARTY

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower flashed a "stop" sign at the Ike-for-President bandwagon, but many of his Democratic supporters ignored the signal.

The general called for the brakes in a statement which said: "I will not at this time identify myself with any political party and could not accept nomination for any public office or participate in partisan political contests."

Now president of Columbia University, the former army chief of staff made his views known last night through the university's public relations director in a memorandum released to the press.

President Truman, on route back to Washington from a speaking trip in Missouri, was reported cheered by Eisenhower's action.

His only direct comment, when asked whether he would accept nomination for public office, was that General Eisenhower "is an honorable man."

But Mr. Truman's aides interpreted the statement as a death blow to the movement to sidetrack the president at the Democratic convention in Philadelphia.

Eisenhower said he was "profoundly touched by the renewed suggestion that I could satisfactorily fill high public office." But he said, he had not changed his mind since telling the Republicans last January that he was "not available."

That had stopped the Republicans. But some of the general's chief Democratic boosters held on grimly to their goal.

Mr. Roosevelt, chairman of the California State Democratic Central Committee, was one of them.

The Eisenhower-for-president headquarters in Philadelphia announced that it was remaining open for business in a statement which said "we still have faith in his Americanism and patriotism and are certain that he will bow to the will of the people."

In New Jersey, where 34 convention votes were pledged, this week to the former commander of Allied forces in Europe, Archibald S. Alexander, Democratic candidate for senator, commented that he felt the Draft-Ike movement might not "necessarily be finally closed."

On the other hand, some Eisenhower supporters (Turn to Page Seven)

Tito Is Given Support By Yugoslavians

Belgrade, July 6.—(P)—Yugoslavians were reported today to have given evidence of support for Premier Marshal Tito, who has been denounced by the Soviet-controlled cominform.

The Yugoslav Communist newspaper Borba said last night that in five days the public subscribed $50,000,000 of the $70,000,000 national loan.

Other press accounts said local committees of the Communist party all over the country are sending messages to Belgrade that they are "with the marshal."

The national organization of war invalids resolved that its members will renew their efforts toward helping build socialism under Tito.

But there was an air of contradiction in the press. On the front pages appeared reports of blistering replies by Yugoslav Communist leaders to the cominform charges that Tito and his lieutenants were deviating from the orthodox Communist line and were pursuing a hateful policy toward Russia.

The back pages of the same papers carried news items telling of normal operations between the countries belonging to cominform, or Communist International Information Bureau.

Borba said the members of a Bulgarian cultural delegation asked upon their arrival in Belgrade last week that no dinner be given in their honor.

Yugoslav-Albanian relations apparently remained strained. The Yugoslav legation in Tirana said Albanian police had blocked all food for Yugoslavs in the border town of Scutari.

Hubert Earle Lawyer

Philadelphia, July 6.—(P)—Hubert P. Earle, 29-year-old son of former Governor George H. Earle, was admitted to law practice today before the state supreme court.

Earle, a graduate of Harvard University and the University of Pennsylvania Law School, has opened law offices in Philadelphia.

REPORT SAYS ISRAELI WILL REJECT TRUCE

Proposal Said to Have Been Turned Down With 27 Negative Votes at Long Session

ARABS ARE DEBATING

Cairo, July 6.—(P)—Israel today formally rejected Count Folke Bernadotte's Palestine peace proposals. Neither Arabs nor Jews gave a definite reply on the United Nations mediator's bid for an extension of the Holy Land truce.

Israel Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok handed Bernadotte a 1,000-word reply to the mediator's proposal to turn Jerusalem over to Arab rule, make Haifa a free port and regulate immigration.

The reply said Israeli leaders were deeply wounded by the Jerusalem proposal. The Jews expressed opposition to any restriction on immigration, and urged Bernadotte to reconsider his whole approach to the problem.

This latter was taken as an indication that the Jews are willing to extend the truce if new talks develop. The truce expires Friday.

Bernadotte planned to leave Tel Aviv for Cairo tonight to resume conference with the Arabs and to return to Tel Aviv Wednesday to hear a Jewish reply on the truce extension.

In Cairo an Egyptian cabinet source said there is little doubt the Arabs will resume fighting in Palestine when the four-week truce ends Friday, despite U. N. appeals for an extension.

The final decision of the Arab League on the truce extension is expected to be taken up by the League's political committee today.

The informant said last night the majority of Arab leaders oppose the extension request made by Count Folke Bernadotte, U. N. Palestine mediator.

In Jerusalem, where Arabs and Jews engaged in gun duels Sunday and again yesterday, Israeli forces have begun digging in for an all-out resumption of war.

A Jewish military leader in the Holy City said Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern group will fight on until Jerusalem is a part of Israel, even if the Israeli army accepts a truce extension. The two Jewish sect groups are still separate from the Israeli army in Jerusalem.

Arab League officials in Cairo said their organization had a dual aim: speedy conclusion of the Holy Land war and creation of an "Islamic bloc."

The cease fire was broken in Jerusalem early yesterday for the second time in two days when Jews entrenched on Mount Zion and Arabs in the old city exchanged mortar and machinegun fire.

Most Jews resent Bernadotte's mediation suggestion, particularly the one which would place the Holy City under Arab rule with Jewish autonomy in certain sections.

"Let's get on with the fighting," said an Arab spokesman in the Holy City. An American marine, Edward Broderick, of Webster, Mass., caught a glass splinter in the eye when a bullet struck the windshield of his auto.

State Captive Mines Idled By Walkout

Pittsburgh, July 6.—(P)—A walkout of 40,000 capital coal miners began today and in western Pennsylvania the bulk of commercial mines remained idle in a sympathy walkout.

Overall coal production reported all 44 of its Pennsylvania mines, employing 11,000 men, were idle, causing a daily loss of 55,000 tons of coal.

Among other captive mines closed were those of the Jones & Laughlin-Steel Corp. and the Weirton Steel Co. Captive mines are those whose output goes to a parent firm, like a steel company.

Final Rites For Two Soldier Dead Planned During Week

Final rites have been scheduled at the Templeton Funeral Home on Thursday and Friday of this week for two more soldier dead being returned on Thursday morning. They are Pfc. Peter A. Mangini, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mangini, Frank and Phillips streets, and S/Sgt. Charles J. Anderson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Axel S. Anderson, 125 Oak street.

Pfc. Mangini was born in Warren on January 22, 1926, attended McCintock, the old Jefferson street, and Easty schools, and was graduated from Warren High School with the class of 1944. During his off-school hours, he was a part-time employee of the Swanson Tire Shop.

He enlisted in the Marine Corps on January 17, 1944, at Buffalo, N. Y., and received his boot training at San Diego, Calif. He later trained at Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif., and left the States on July 28 for stations on Oahu and Maui, Hawaiian Islands.

Later, he was sent to Iwo Jima, where, as a member of Company G, 2nd Battalion, 1st Platoon, of the Fourth Marine Division, he was in the first landing party. He was killed in action there on March 3, 1945.

Surviving, besides his parents, are two brothers, John and Anthony, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Genevieve Dey, Torpedo, and Jennie Mae, at home; also several cousins, aunts and uncles.

He was a member of Holy Redeemer church and of the Dinamo-Schwinn Post, 631, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The remains are being brought to the Templeton Funeral Home, from where services in his memory will be held at four o'clock Thursday afternoon. Father George Coucouit, of Holy Redeemer church, will officiate and interment will be made in St. Joseph's cemetery.

S/Sgt. Anderson was born July 31, 1920, in Warren, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Axel S. Anderson, 125 Oak street, who have both preceded him in death. He attended the old Jefferson street school and Warren High School and, after leaving school, worked for a short time at the East Side Walker Dairy Store and as a meat cutter for the A and P Company at Jamestown, N. Y. He was a member of Grace Methodist church and of its Sunday School.

He enlisted in the regular army in June, 1937, and was first stationed at Fort Slocum, N. Y. After serving three years at Schofield Barracks in Honolulu, he was discharged at Ft. Dix, N. J., in July, 1941.

He reenlisted in December of the same year and was attached to Company B, 70th Truck Battalion, at Fort Bragg, N. C., serving with the first unit to invade North Africa. He also participated in the invasion of Sicily and Italy. He was then transferred to England and was with the First Army under General Patton in the Normandy invasion. Landing at Utah Beach in Normandy on July 5, 1944, he was killed in action near St. Lo, France, on July 12, 1944. He had been temporarily buried in the military cemetery at St. Mere Eglise, France.

Surviving are the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Marjorie Johnson, Sheffield; Delbert Anderson, Mrs. Ruth Brown, Mrs. Helen Laufenberger and Robert Anderson, Warren; Frederick C. Anderson, Warren; and several other relatives.

AMERICAN NOTE OF PROTEST HANDED SOVIET AMBASSADOR BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT

Washington, July 6.—(P)—The United States demanded directly to the Soviet government today that the Russian blockade of Berlin be lifted.

Secretary of State Marshall presented the American note of protest personally to Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin. Immediately afterward, state department press officer Lincoln White issued this statement:

"Ambassador Panyushkin called on the secretary at 11:30 o'clock this morning and was given a note regarding the situation in Berlin. The ambassador was informed that it is not the intention of this government to make the contents of the note public until the Soviet government had a reasonable period of time to study the note and make its reply."

The United States acted in concert with Britain and France in protesting strongly the Soviet blockade of the German capital. Other diplomatic informants said there appeared no doubt that he demanded the immediate lifting of the Berlin blockade, and protested Russia's recent policies in the German capital. They said he argued that the Soviet Union must directly accept responsibility for any lack of supplies among the millions of Germans living in Berlin.

White did not define what was meant by a "reasonable period of time" in which the Soviet government could study the American note but presumably it meant several days at least.

The contents of the notes from the three western powers are not expected to be disclosed for several days. Notes similar to that of the U. S. were understood to have been handed the Soviet ambassador in London and Paris.

Panyushkin said Marshall had not expressed to him directly any views on Berlin. He did not say what they talked about during the time he was in the secretary's office.

Panyushkin told reporters as he left the department that he had received a note from Marshall but didn't know what was in it. He was in Marshall's office for 14 minutes.

American sources had said Marshall would protest Soviet policies in Berlin and present a demand for lifting the Russian blockade in the German capital.

At the same time, ambassadors of five western European powers and Canada were called into conference with Undersecretary of State Lovett. These talks are the first of what may prove to be a historic series of meetings on American military support for the western European bloc.

Marshall's plan to see Panyushkin coincided with dispatches from Frankfurt saying that the British and French in parallel notes also are demanding the Soviet blockade on the German capital be lifted.

The steady flow of American supply planes into Berlin resumed at noon after bad flying weather in the east lamed the spectacular effort for seven hours. U. S. Air Force officials said planes again were leaving every four minutes from the Rhine-Main and Wiesbaden fields.

American officials said the German press reports of new truck controls apparently were true. The new Russian move was reported as bad flying weather at Frankfurt lamed the American air fleet which has been carrying essential supplies to Berlin.

At mid-morning Tempelhof airport said two U. S. cargo planes had arrived since midnight. Normally more than 50 planes have unloaded their supplies here by that time.

Yesterday American planes flew a record total of 976 tons of food to Berlin in 214 flights before bad weather disrupted the flow. Air Force headquarters at Frankfurt said an American C-47 crashed last night near the Wiesbaden airbase while trying to land in bad weather. Two crewmen were slightly injured. It was the first accident in more than 1,100 food-shuttling flights to Berlin, officials said.

Philadelphia, July 6.—(P)—The Lancaster drill team won the national drill championship for the second straight year today at the 84th national grand lodge convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

The Lancaster team, led by Gil Bowers, compiled a score of 99.3 to edge out Pottstown, Pa., captained by Carl R. Struwan. Pottstown scored 99.1. Milwaukee, Wis., led by Frank C. Hoffman, finished third with 98.8.

Lancaster won the title last year at Portland, Ore.

FATALITY AT ERIE

Erie, July 6.—(P)—Eighteen-month-old Gerald McClintock was killed last evening when he was struck by a car backing into the driveway at his home.

Casualties In Nation Over Holidays Soar Over 500 Mark

The nation's death toll in violent accidents over the three-day Independence Day holiday soared far past the 500 mark today and higher than the total in 1947.

Four persons lost their lives in fireworks accidents. An undetermined number of persons suffered injuries in fireworks mishaps. The national survey of accidental deaths from 6 p. m. local time Friday until last midnight showed:

395 persons killed in traffic accidents; 184 drowned; 66 fatally injured in miscellaneous accidents, and four deaths from fireworks.

The toll of 550 compared to 646 killed in accidents over the three-day fourth of July holiday last year. The 296 fatalities resulting from accidents on highways were more than the 235 estimated by the National Safety Council.

Clear skies and hot weather lured millions to lake resorts and vacation lands. The council had estimated 30,000,000 cars would be traveling during the three days. The traffic deaths compared to 264 last year, while the 184 drownings compared to 114 in the independence day holiday in 1947.

Highway, drownings and other accidents claimed the lives of at least 44 persons in Pennsylvania over the fourth of July holiday weekend.

Three Bethlehem residents were killed in a car-truck crash near Greensburg last night. Those killed were identified by State Police as James F. Conroy, 50; his wife Francis, 50, and his stepmother, Mrs. Anna Conroy, 79.

Eighteen-year-old Edward Foulkes, Jr., son of a prominent Amherst attorney, was killed as a giant firecracker he was attempting to make exploded at Blue Bell, Montgomery county. Coroner W. J. Rushong said the youth and (Turn to Page Seven)

SLEEP WALKER FALLS INTO CHIMNEY FLUE

Boston, July 6.—(P)—Paul Lawless, 26, went sleep walking right up to his arm pits in a chimney. Summoned by neighbors, police found him wedged in the flue last night.

They quoted him as saying he was sleeping on the roof of his home and did not wake up until he toppled in the chimney.

Lawless' plight was discovered by a neighbor who heard bricks falling. City hospital attaches said he apparently suffered no injuries.

Elks In Pennsylvania Donate $400,000 to Foundation Fund

Philadelphia, July 6.—(P)—A check for $400,000, described as the largest single gift from any state, was presented to the Elks National Foundation today by Pennsylvania.

It represented subscriptions from Pennsylvania's lodges during the past year.

The foundation now is in its 20th year and under the chairmanship of John F. Malley, past grand orator of Boston, provides college scholarships for boys and girls and is used in rehabilitation of crippled children.

Today's gift was presented by Charles E. Grakelov, past grand exalted ruler of Philadelphia lodge, who was named to the foundation yesterday for a seven year term. Grakelov is credited with being one of the organizers of the foundation. He said the Pennsylvania gift was the largest single contribution ever made to the fund.

The foundation has an ultimate goal of $20,000,000 and now is at $2,000,000.

Last year the foundation spent $27,000 in its work, most of which was expended in providing scholarships. One hundred of these awards to be given out this year, foundation officials said.

Today also is competition day for the several thousand members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks gathered here for the 84th grand lodge convention.

Gen. Eisenhower Flashes Stop Sign To Supporters

FORMER ARMY CHIEF STATES HE WILL NOT IDENTIFY SELF WITH ANY POLITICAL PARTY

By The Associated Press

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower flashed a "stop" sign at the Ike-for-President bandwagon, but many of his Democratic supporters ignored the signal.

The general called for the brakes in a statement which said: "I will not at this time identify myself with any political party and could not accept nomination for any public office or participate in partisan political contests."

Now president of Columbia University, the former army chief of staff made his views known last night through the university's public relations director in a memorandum released to the press.

President Truman, en route back to Washington from a speaking tour in Missouri, was reported cheered by Eisenhower's action.

His only direct comment, when awakened and told of the news in St. Louis, was that General Eisenhower "is an honorable man."

But Mr. Truman's aides interpreted the statement as a death blow to the movement to sidetrack the president at the Democratic convention in Philadelphia.

Eisenhower said he was "profoundly touched by the renewed suggestion that I could satisfactorily fill high public office." But, he said, he had not changed his mind since telling the Republicans last January that he was "not available."

On the other hand, some Eisenhower supporters were not so sure. (Turn to Page Seven)

Mr. Truman had retired for the night aboard his private car when it reached St. Louis shortly before midnight. A telegram from the Associated Press to this staff aboard the presidential special train was the first word Mr. Truman had of Eisenhower's action.

The reporter sent the telegram to the president via Brig. General Wallace H. Graham, the White House physician. Graham returned with his comment from the president: "General Eisenhower is an honorable man."

One of Mr. Truman's confidants, who would not be quoted by name, said he felt that much of the strength behind the move to deny him the presidential nomination would disappear with the removal of General Eisenhower from the picture.

Mr. Truman appeared in good humor as he met crowds at Willard, Mo., Springfield, Mo., and other points on his way back east from Bolivar, Mo., where he spoke yesterday with President Romulo Gallegos of Venezuela.

He steered clear of political talk at his platform appearance at Springfield. He held to the theme of western hemisphere solidarity that he used at Bolivar.

Asked to "say something" at Newburg, Mo., he replied "there is nothing to say—this is really a non-political trip."

In the little southeast Missouri town of Bolivar, Mr. Truman received a statue of Simon Bolivar, the South American liberator, from Venezuelan President Romulo Gallegos. The Venezuelan chief executive and his wife accompanied Mr. Truman to Bolivar.

JUKE BOX LEVY IN MEADVILLE IS UPHELD

Philadelphia, July 6.—(P)—The right of the city of Meadville to levy license fees for the operation of pin ball machines and juke boxes was upheld today by the state supreme court.

The high tribunal's ruling was against the Northwestern Pennsylvania Automatic Phonograph Association of Sharon.

The association appealed a decision of common pleas court of Crawford county. The lower court dismissed a bill of complaint in which the association sought to enjoin enforcement of a city ordinance requesting a $25 fee for pin ball machines and $50 for juke boxes.

Borba said the members of a Bulgarian cultural delegation assisted upon their arrival in Belgrade last week that no dinner be given in their honor. Yugoslav-Albanian relations apparently remained strained. The Yugoslav legation in Tirana said Albanian police had blocked all food for Yugoslavians in the border town of Scutari.

Footprints May Be Of Lost Child

Somerset, July 6.—(P)—A child's footprint in a wooded area a mile from the Collier cabin, today led searchers forward with new hope that 23-month-old Donald Collier may still be alive.

The baby disappeared last Friday afternoon and 300 or more volunteers and officers have been searching for him ever since.

Searchers said the footprint, to the northeast of the cabin site, was a fresh one, having been made since Saturday night's heavy electrical storm.

State police said the footprint gave hope that Donald is still alive since no children live in the vicinity where it was found.

Donald is the son of an Allegheny county coal miner.

State Captive Mines Idled By Walkout

Pittsburgh, July 6.—(P)—A walkout of 40,000 capital coal miners began today and in western Pennsylvania the bulk of commercial miners remained idle in a sympathy walkout.

Overall coal production reported all 14 of its Pennsylvania mines, employing 11,000 men, were idle, causing a daily loss of 55,000 tons of coal.

Among other captive mines closed were those of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. and the Weirton Steel Co. Captive mines are those whose output goes to a parent firm, like a steel company.

The Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators Association reported commercial coal production in the Pittsburgh-Uniontown area was only one-third of normal, with 30 pits and 10,000 men idle.

The captive miners stayed away from work because of lack of a contract. Steel companies refused a new contract because of a union shop provision.

The majority of the 400,000 bituminous miners had a new contract from commercial coal operators granting a $1-per-day pay increase and a welfare fund royalty doubled to 20 cents a ton.

The walkout actually was an extension of the 10-day miners' vacation which ended yesterday. The captive miners held to the United Mine Workers' tradition of "no contract, no work."

Signs on the mine doors declared the pits open and promised the captive miners all the benefits of the unsigned contract—except the union shop.

Later, he was sent to Two Jima, where, as a member of Company G, 2nd Battalion, 1st Platoon, of the Fourth Marine Division, he was in the first landing party. He was killed in action there on March 3, 1945.

Surviving, besides his parents, are two brothers, John and Anthony, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Genevieve DeTropedo, and Jennifer, at home; also several cousins, aunts and uncles.

He was a member of Holy Redeemer church and of the Dinsmore-Schwep Post, 631, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The remains are being brought to the Templeton Funeral Home, from where services in his memory will be held at four o'clock Thursday afternoon. Father George Brodeur, of Holy Redeemer church, will officiate and interment will be made in St. Joseph's cemetery.

S/Sgt. Anderson was born July 31, 1920, in Warren, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Axel S. Anderson, 123 Oak street, who have both preceded him in death. He attended the old Jefferson street school and Warren High School and, after leaving school, worked for a short time at the East Side Walker Dairy Store and as a meat cutter for the A and P Company at Jamestown, N. Y. He was a member of Grace Methodist church and of its Sunday School.

He enlisted in the regular army in June, 1937, and was first stationed at Fort Slocum, N. Y. After serving three years at Schofield Barracks in Honolulu, he was discharged at Ft. Dix, N. J., in July, 1941.

He reenlisted in December of the same year and was attached to Company B, 76th Truck Battalion, at Fort Bragg, N. C., serving with the first unit to invade North Africa. He also participated in the invasion of Sicily and Italy. He was then transferred to England and was with the First Army unit during the invasion of France.

He was killed in action near St. Lo, France, on July 12, 1944. He has been temporarily buried in the military cemetery at St. Mere Eglise, France.

Surviving are the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Marjorie Johnson, Sheffield, Delbert, the old Jefferson street school, and Mrs. Ruth Brown, Mrs. Helen Lauffenberger and Robert Anderson, Warren; Frederick C. Anderson. (Turn to Page Seven)

AMERICAN NOTE OF PROTEST HANDED SOVIET AMBASSADOR BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT

Washington, July 6.—(P)—The United States demanded directly to the Soviet government today that the Russian blockade of Berlin be lifted.

Secretary of State Marshall presented the American note of protest personally to Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin. Immediately afterward, state department press officer Lincoln White issued this statement:

"Ambassador Panyushkin called on the secretary at 11:30 o'clock this morning and was given a note regarding the situation in Berlin. The ambassador was informed that it is not the intention of this government to make the contents of the note public until the Soviet government had a reasonable period of time to study the note and make its reply."

The contents of the notes from the three western powers are not expected to be disclosed for several days. Notes similar to that of the U. S. were understood to have been handed the Soviet ambassadors in London and Paris.

Panyushkin said Marshall had not expressed to him directly any views on Berlin. He did not say what he talked about during the time he was in the secretary's office.

Panyushkin told reporters as he left the department that he had received a note from Marshall but didn't know what was in it. He was in Marshall's office for 14 minutes.

American sources had said Marshall would protest Soviet policies in Berlin and present a demand for lifting the Russian blockade in the German capital.

At the same time, ambassadors of five western European powers and Canada were called into conference with Undersecretary of State Lovett. These talks are the first of what may prove to be a historic series of meetings on American military support for the western European bloc.

Marshall's plan to see Panyushkin coincided with dispatches from London saying that the British and French in parallel notes also are demanding the Soviet blockade on the German capital be lifted.

The steady flow of American supply planes into Berlin resumed at noon after bad flying weather in the west lamed the spectacular air lift for seven hours. U. S. Air Force officials said planes again were leaving every four minutes from the Rhine-Main and Wiesbaden fields.

American officials said the German press reports of new truck controls apparently were true. The new Russian move was reported as bad flying weather at Frankfurt lamed the American air fleet which has been carrying essential supplies to Berlin.

At mid-morning Tempelhof airport said two U. S. cargo planes had arrived since midnight. Normally more than 50 planes have unloaded their supplies here by that time.

Yesterday American planes flew a record total of 976 tons of food to Berlin in 214 flights before bad weather interrupted the flow.

Air Force headquarters at Frankfurt said an American C-47 crashed last night near the Wiesbaden airbase while trying to land in bad weather. Two crewmen were slightly injured. It was the first accident in more than 1100 food-shuttling flights to Berlin, officials said.

Philadelphia, July 6.—(P)—The Lancaster lodge team won the national drill championship for the second straight year today at the 84th national grand lodge convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

The Lancaster team, led by Gil Bowers, compiled a score of 99.3 to edge out Pottstown, Pa., captained by Carl R. Strang. Pottstown scored 99.1. Milwaukee, Wis., by Frank C. Hoffman, finished third with 98.3.

Lancaster won the title last year at Portland, Ore.

FATALITY AT ERIE

Erie, July 6.—(P)—Eighteen-month-old Gerald McClimans was killed last evening when he was struck by a car backing into the driveway at his home.

MARINE BALLROOM DAMAGED BY FIRE

Atlantic City, N. J., July 6.—(P)—The big marine ballroom on Atlantic City's steel pier was damaged by fire early today shortly after Tex Beneke and his band concluded their opening night playing engagement.

Beneke and his players were just outside the ballroom when the flames broke out and were able to rush back and retrieve their instruments.

George A. Hamid, Jr., son of the pier owner, said major damage was caused by water from the automatic sprinkler system. He described the ballroom as "one huge pool."

The steel pier juts out into the Atlantic Ocean for ¼ mile.

Hard Coal Miners Due Back Today

New York, July 6.—(P)—Hard coal miners are due back at work today after a 10-day vacation during which a new agreement was reached between anthracite operators and the United Mine Workers.

The agreement reached here over the weekend gives $0.00 Pennsylvania hard coal miners wage increases of a dollar a day and increases the employer contribution to the health and welfare fund from 10 cents per ton to 20 cents.

Union Vice President Thomas Kennedy said the union now could plan to provide a pension system for its men similar to the $100 a month pension planned for soft coal miners after the age of 62.

The present contract expires July 10 and the new pact goes into effect July 16, the six-day lapse attributed to bookkeeping difficulties.

Dem Platform Drafters Are Debating States Rights Plank

Washington, July 6.—(P)—Democratic platform drafters talked today of writing in a strong states rights plank to help coop off southern bitterness over civil rights.

The issue of granting greater rights to negroes and other minority groups has stirred up a major problem for the platform writers as they go ready for their first meeting in Philadelphia tomorrow.

This is the reported aim of the platform committee, headed by Pennsylvania's Senator Francis J. Myers.

To find some compromise satisfactory both to the backers of President Truman's controversial civil rights program and to the southerners who have threatened to split the party wide open over that program.

The group plans to hold public hearings tomorrow, Thursday, and probably Friday. The convention opens on Monday. The civil rights question is expected to get a full—and possibly violent—airing before both the committee and the full convention.

Leaders of negro groups, representing substantial voting strength, have asked to be heard by Myers' committee. They are expected to demand a plank calling for anti-poll tax, anti-lynch, fair employment and other civil rights legislation.

Meanwhile, at Minneapolis, May- or Hubert H. Humphrey, a member of the platform committee, announced that 50 party leaders, including Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., will try to squeeze Mr. Truman's entire program into the platform. Any such move would be sure to set off furious southern reaction.

Will Appeal Decision In Speed Case

William Gallagher, of Sheffield, was found guilty on a charge of speeding preferred by Lt. Geary Bean and Officer William Hewitt of the city police, following a hearing held at two o'clock yesterday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Paul Leiby, Mead township.

Justice Leiby assessed a fine of $10 and costs against Mr. Gallagher, which were paid. Mr. Gallagher indicated through his attorney, A. C. Buck, Jr., that he would appeal to the next term of Quarter Sessions court.

More than the usual amount of interest has been shown locally because of the suspension and reinstatement of the arresting officers.

The case was an outgrowth of a long chase by the local policemen about two o'clock on the morning of June 20 when they testified they observed a car traveling east through town at a high rate of speed. The police car, carrying both officers, was parked at Market and Pennsylvania avenue, and they stated that they pursued Mr. Gallagher to the vicinity of the Penn Run Service Station on Route 6, east of Warren, before succeeding in stopping him.

Mr. Gallagher protested to Chief of Police George Haebl and Burgess William Crossett concerning the alleged indiscriminate pointing of a pistol by Officer Hewitt, with the result that both officers were suspended for a 10-day period by Burgess Crossett on Monday, June 21. However, the suspension was lifted about 24 hours later for an undisclosed reason and the information was filed with Justice Leiby by the officers on Monday afternoon.

Mr. Gallagher's defense consisted of attempting to show that the officers made a mistake and stopped the wrong car. He testified that a few hundred feet before he was stopped by the police car, another automobile passed him going in the same direction at a high rate of speed. He said that he was driving between 40-45 miles per hour. The officers testified that at no time after leaving the city limits was there any car between them and the 1942 Buick being operated by Mr. Gallagher, and that within the city limits the two vehicles were never more than one block apart. They said that after leaving the Glade bridge they were forced to drive between 70 and 75 miles per hour in order to overtake Mr. Gallagher's car.

SHOT BY FATHER

Betty Jane Bennett, age 3, is recovering from the effects of a 22 calibre bullet wound accidentally inflicted by her father on Sunday about six o'clock. Mr. Bennett, who resides near Buell's Corners on RD 2, Spartansburg, had been in his back yard shooting snakes. He went into the living room of his home to unload the gun and started to remove the bolt action without remembering the gun was cocked. The bullet went through the left forearm of the little girl passing between the bones just above the wrist.

Wayne Pritchard certainly has a nice view, even though he may not have too much privacy. Wayne advertised for a place to live, and got a reply from a Sioux Falls, S. D., department store. They offered him a furnished apartment in their show window. The lucky fellow has running water and a telephone, too. His early morning rising seems to amuse a passer-by.

Probe Into Fatal Crash Is Completed

State Police officers of the Corry barracks completed their investigation of the traffic accident at Lettville Friday morning in which Mrs. Criville Davis and her infant son, Gerald met instant death when their car was struck by an eastbound Erie freight train. Officers have stated no inquest will be necessary.

Contrary to previous reports it has been ascertained that the daughter and sister of the victims, Bonita, had not been removed from the car when it stalled at the crossing. The little girl miraculously survived the crash although still in the 1938 Pontiac coupe which was practically demolished by the impact.

Miss Anna Johnson who lives near the scene, witnessed the accident.

The bodies of Mrs. Davis and her son were removed Friday evening from the Bracken-Keating Funeral Home in Corry to the H. L. Musser establishment in Union City. Services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Lettville Methodist church by Elder J. B. Jayne, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church of Erie. Burial followed at the Lettville cemetery.

Golf Tourney Is Held Over The Weekend

Mrs. H. L. Banghart and Donald Morgan won low gross honors and Mrs. David Beatty and H. L. Banghart won low net honors in a two-ball mixed forenoon golf tourney at the Conwango Valley Country Club over the holiday weekend.

The best low gross score for the 18 holes was 83, while the top net score was 79 (98 less handicap of 19).

Other winners in the low net division were:
Second place (two-way tie)—Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cray, 89 less 19 handicap, net 80 and Mrs. Banghart and Morgan, 93 less 13 handicap, net 80; third place (two-way tie)—Mrs. John Allen and Homer Culbertson, 124 less 43 handicap, net 81, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeFrees, 108 less 27 handicap, net 81.

In other tournaments held over the week end, Lloyd Cleveland and William Simonsen placed first in match play against par for 18 holes, while Al Rasmussen, Bob Ritchie and William Moore won the sweepstakes event.

Another in a series of the B-State Golf Association tournaments will be held Friday at Wells-ville, N. Y.

Jaycees Will Sponsor Big Carnival Here

Believing that the community should have one outstanding carnival this summer, the Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the appearance next week of the Penn Premier Shows. The Penn Premier Shows is one of the largest on the road today. It consists of 16 rides and 10 shows and travels in 47 vans.

Members of the Jaycees visited the carnival in Bradford last week and state that the show is fully as large as it claims to be. To set up the entire midway requires a lot of 500 feet long by 400 feet wide which will make it difficult to show on the Brewery Grounds. The local field has the required length but is not wide enough. However, arrangements are being made to rearrange the set up so that the mammoth attraction will appear here.

The local Junior Chamber will hold a special meeting tomorrow evening in the YMCA at 8 o'clock. It is urgent that every Jaycee turnout to plan next week's activity as Jaycees members will serve as ticket takers when the carnival appears here July 12th to the 17th.

Sugar Grove Postmaster Is Confirmed

Sugar Grove, July 6—Howard A. Rathbun has received official notification of the confirmation by the senate on June 11 of his appointment as postmaster of Sugar Grove.

Mr. Rathbun has been acting postmaster since December 16, 1943, when he was appointed to fill the vacancy brought about by the death of W. C. Jameson.

He has lived in Sugar Grove most of his life, with the exception of the time he spent in college and a few years in Florida and Ohio prior to his appointment to the postmaster's vacancy, he had been employed in D. H. Haggerty's hardware store for 20 years.

Sugar cane, sugar beets, sugar maples, grapes and corn are all sources of sugar.

They said that after leaving the Glade bridge they were forced to drive between 70 and 75 miles per hour in order to overtake Mr. Gallagher's car.

Mr. Gallagher's defense consisted of attempting to show that the officers made a mistake and stopped the wrong car. He testified that a few hundred feet before he was stopped by the police car, another automobile passed him going in the same direction at a high rate of speed. He said that he was driving between 40-45 miles per hour. The officers testified that at no time after leaving the city limits was there any car between them and the 1942 Buick being operated by Mr. Gallagher, and that within the city limits the two vehicles were never more than one block apart. SHOT BY FATHER

Betty Jane Bennett, age 3, is recovering from the effects of a 22 calibre bullet wound accidentally inflicted by her father on Sunday about six o'clock. Mr. Bennett, who resides near Buell's Corners on RD 2, Spartansburg, had been in his back yard shooting snakes. He went into the living room of his home to unload the gun and started to remove the bolt action without remembering the gun was cocked. The bullet went through the left forearm of the little girl, passing between the bones just above the wrist.

TO CONVENTION

Mrs. Gussie Winsor, district deputy for the Protected Home Circle, and Mrs. Clara Dalmyle will leave tomorrow for Harrisburg, where they will attend the Grand Circle convention held in the Penn-Harris Hotel July 8, 9 and 10.

FIRECRACKER CASE

The celebration of the Fourth of July is not complete without at least one injury from firecrackers. Yesterday it turned out to be Don Scallise, 1014 Pennsylvania avenue, west, who was treated for burns and given tetanus shots at Warren General Hospital after some crackers had exploded in his hand.

HONOLULU EARTHQUAKE

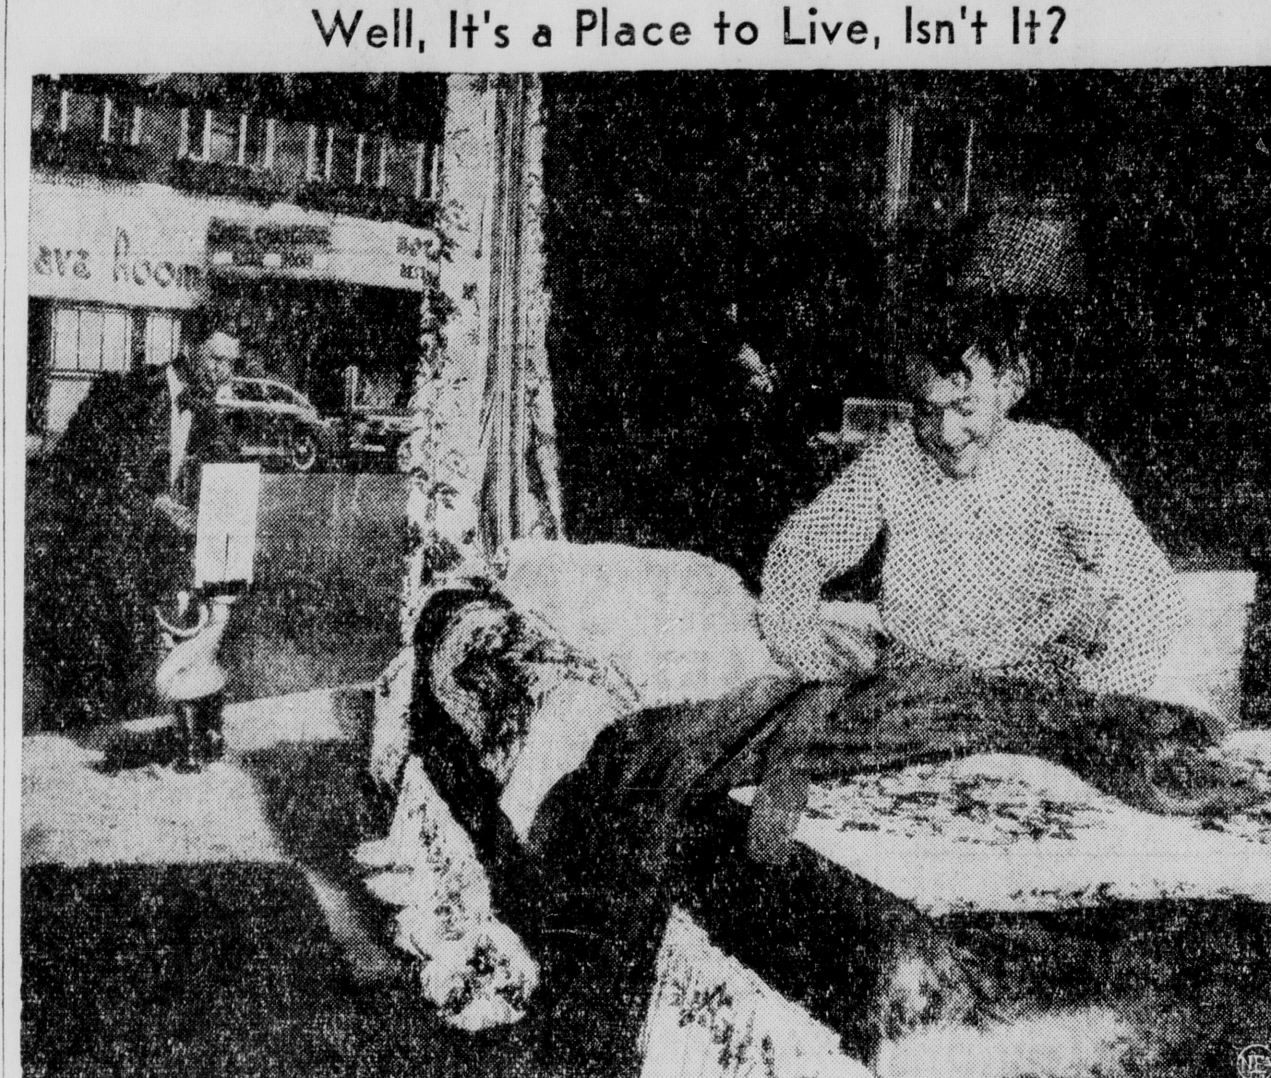

The family of William Bower, of Youngsville, who is working at Hickam Field, near Honolulu, has received a letter from him describing the recent earthquake there. Mr. Bower tells how he woke up during the night with the building shaking and hearing a rumbling Bower observed telephone poles noise. During the quake Mr. Bower and says that windows were broken and walls cracked. The quake lasted only a very short time and damage was not serious.

CLARION PROGRAM

The air show and baseball game, part of the July 4th program slated at Clarion, were held Sunday, but the annual fireworks display which was promised tonight was cancelled due to rain. According to officials of the Independence club, sponsors of the Independence day celebration, only a few of the numerous displays were presented. The remainder of the show will be given next Saturday night, July 10, at the recreation park. Approximately 4,500 people were in attendance for Sunday's program at the Parker D. Kramer airport and the ball game at the park Sunday night.

BROKEN NECK

Will G. Lyon, age 63, who resides about four miles west of Russell on the Russell-Lander road, was taken to WCA Hospital in Jamestown yesterday afternoon by the Snoover ambulance after he was injured while working in his barn. Mr. Lyon was in the process of taking down a hay fork when a pole fell, striking him on the head. In addition to two broken vertebrae in his neck, he received a broken left ankle and a bad cut on the head. His condition at this time is not known until further x-rays are taken today.

Wayne Pritchard certainly has a nice view, even though he may not have too much privacy. Wayne advertised for a place to live, and got a reply from a Sioux Falls, S. D., department store. They offered him a furnished apartment—in their show window. The lucky fellow has running water and a telephone, too. His early morning rising seems to amuse a passer-by.

Corry Girl Drowns In The Brokenstraw

Services are being held this afternoon at three o'clock at the Bracken & Keating funeral home in Corry, in memory of Gertrude Davis, aged 11, daughter of William H. Davis, Corry, whose body was found in the Brokenstraw creek, a short distance below the steel bridge spanning the stream in Columbus township, Saturday evening. Interment will follow in Pine Grove cemetery.

The death of the eleven-year-old Corry girl was caused by drowning, a physician informed investigating officers after an examination of the body at the funeral home late Saturday evening. The child had not been criminally attacked before her death, the physician, Dr. Hugh O'Hara ruled. Missing since last Wednesday, when she disappeared, the body was badly decomposed and the theory is that she drowned the day she disappeared from her home.

Discovery of the body was made by Charles Hubertz, Corry roofing contractor, about eight o'clock Saturday evening. It was floating several yards from shore about two miles east of Corry, and just across the boundary in Warren county. It was pulled to shore by Ross Mack, a resident of that vicinity.

An immediate investigation was launched by members of the state police substation in Corry, along with Warren county coroner, Ed Lowrey, and Deputy Coroner Charles Keating, of Erie county. Possibility that the girl may have been attacked arose from the fact that she was clad only in her pink panties, and at first the rest of her clothing was located. Corry state police, however, Sunday found her garments, excepting shoes, piled along the short some distance above where the body was discovered. The doctor's verdict ruled out the possibility of foul play, and the theory is that she had stripped herself and probably was wading in the creek. The supposition is that she could not swim. The investigation is being continued, but no action is contemplated.

The young girl leaves the following to survive her: Her father, William Henry Davis; her mother, Mrs. Frank Davis; four sisters, Mrs. Steve Swartzel, Ruth, Betty, and Mildred Davis; two brothers, Henry and Guy Davis, all of Corry; a half-sister, Martha Davis, Corry; two half-brothers, Carl Whitman, Westfield, N. Y.; Ronald Craker, Corry; also her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Finlan, Union City.

TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS

City police made 113 arrests for traffic violations during the month of June, it was reported by Police Justice Tracy M. Greenlund today.

AIR RIFLES

Kids and air rifles were the source of one police call over the weekend. The violators were in the neighborhood of Parker street and were warned by police to cease and desist.

MINOR ACCIDENT

The only traffic accident reported to police within the city limits took place Sunday at Conewango avenue and Alexander street and was of minor nature. The parties adjusted their own differences while city police refereed.

FIREMEN TO MEET

The Warren County Active Volunteer Firemen's Association will meet at North Warren for the first time at eight o'clock Wednesday evening, July 14. The consideration of a training school for county firemen will be one of the main subjects to be discussed.

CUT ON HEAD

John Peterson, 205 Madison avenue, was taken to Warren General Hospital for treatment to cuts on his head following a fall on the sidewalk at Market street and Pennsylvania avenue during the weekend. Two stitches were required to close the wound.

RELIEF DECLINE

Pennsylvania's general assistance rolls continued to decline during the week ending June 26, with a net decrease of 155 cases, it was reported by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Assistance today. This marks the 18th consecutive weekly decline since the start downward in February.

ELECTED DIRECTOR

George A. Geraci, of Geraci's Home Spun Inn, has received notification that he was elected a director of the Pennsylvania Restaurant Association at the annual meeting held June 25 at the Bedford Springs Hotel, Edwin K. Birkett, of Norristown, was elected president of the group for the coming year.

RELIEF REPORT

Ramsey S. Black, State Treasurer, reported that direct relief payments made to needy residents of Warren county during the week ending July 1 show a decrease of $14.00 from those of the previous week. Payments for the week totaled $94.00 which was $18.00 lower than those of the comparable week of last year. Payments by the Bureau of Assistance Disbursements in the State Treasury Department follow: Current week $94.00; previous week $108.00.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Eve Litt, West Haven, Connecticut, who was seriously injured when the car which her husband was driving went overboard on the Youngsville overhead some time ago, has been removed from Warren General Hospital to the West Haven hospital where she will remain from six to eight weeks. Mrs. Litt received a broken pelvis and broken leg as a result of the accident in which the car was demolished and her husband and two children only slightly injured.

DAMSELS IN DISTRESS

Three young ladies from Port Allegany, who in company with their boy friends came to Warren to attend the carnival on Friday, were rescued from a predicament by city police and the brother of one of the girls. According to police reports, the girls stated that they had had a scrap with their escorts and refused to return with them. They told police their story and the lady of the law passed the hat to buy the young ladies a ticket home. Before they embarked on the bus, however, the brother appeared and took them to Port Allegany and the bus company arranged a refund on the ticket purchase.

EMERGENCIES TREATED

Among emergency cases treated at Warren General Hospital over the weekend were Dick Dentler, age 6, 313 Oneida avenue, treated for lacerations of the chin following a fall on the sidewalk; Ray Maloney, RD 3, employed at GGG Metal Stamping Company, treated for an impacted fracture of the right wrist; Holoy R. Graham, 27 Plum street, who lacerated his right middle finger when it was caught between a plank and pipe; Thomas Driscoll, age 3, RD 2, who received first and second degree burns on his arms and

HELD FOR TRIAL

According to the Corry Journal Raymond L. Clark, 602, West Washington street, that city, was ordered held for the next term of Erie county court on an involuntary manslaughter charge in a decision made Friday evening by Justice Floyd Marsh of Beaverdam. Clark had been given a hearing last Tuesday before Justice Marsh on the charge which was preferred by State Police of the Corry sub-station following a fatal accident on Route 6 west of Corry on June 20. The justice at that time had delayed his decision. In holding the Corry man for court trial Justice Marsh continued the $2,000 property bond under which he has been free since his arrest. Clark's car and a second machine collided head-on, causing injuries which were fatal to Carl Haag, of Youngsville, an occupant in the second machine.

MAKE GOOD ON UN HOME LOAN

The United Nations was left in an embarrassing situation when Congress adjourned without approving the $65,000,000 loan to finance a UN skyscraper home in Manhattan. So was the City of New York, which has the job of providing municipal services. And even more embarrassed is Uncle Sam, whose willingness to keep his promises is put in doubt.

Apparently nobody of consequence proposed seriously that we back down on our agreement to make the loan. The matter just got caught in a bit of political jockeying that some, undoubtedly of suspicious mind, think was aimed at influencing the Republicans' choice of a presidential candidate.

The big site for the UN capitol has been acquired, and cleared, and is waiting for construction crews. Until the money is provided, it waits in mute reproach of Congress. In the first place it was not utterly vital that the United Nations make their home in this country, and it mattered much less whether it was in New York or elsewhere.

Once the U. S. was selected, however, a specific site for the capitol acquired, and the loan promised, it became very vital that we make good. It seems desirable that the UN's work be carried on in the relatively democratic atmosphere of a country like ours, but that is a secondary consideration.

The United Nations has had some tough sledding. Over-sold by its enthusiastic partisans, it has been utterly unable to do things expected of it but for which it never was fitted. The world peace and unity that it was to help keep have never been established. It has to struggle on, doing the best it can to keep alive and alert, while it waits for the Soviet bloc and the "western" or "democratic" bloc to reconcile their differences or fight them out, so the UN can begin functioning.

If the capital were to be moved to Geneva or elsewhere for the nations' convenience, or because they lack dollars to maintain staffs here, or for some similar mechanical reason, no important damage might be done. But it would be tragic and perhaps fatal if the UN were to leave these shores because it had concluded that the word of the United States in international affairs was no good.

The world's fate depends on us. It depends in large part on the world's ability to work with us and trust us. It depends upon the world's confidence in that ability. Anything that can be used by our enemies to make it appear that the world can't do business with the U. S. is a weapon against world peace.

It would seem that congressional leaders have a prime responsibility to work out with the White House and the United Nations some guaranty against which the UN can get money to start building its New York capitol. Given firm enough assurances there must be those who would lend the money until Congress meets and appropriates it.

Politicians have missed one possibility in speculating about the split duties handed to GOP National Chairman Hugh D. Scott, Jr., and to Herbert Brownell as Candidate Dewey's campaign manager. Congressman Scott is presumably sympathetic to Congress' record. Candidate Dewey has praised that record, but some of its elements he would find it hard to reconcile with his own views and platform. Many problems would be solved if Dewey and Brownell campaign on the candidate's ideas, leaving it to Scott to handle the party campaign that has to down Congress' record whole, like a dose of salts. Maybe, when he decided on the division of authority, Dewey never thought of that. Maybe he did.

So far as the borough and county were concerned the long weekend holiday passed without serious accident, with the exception of the double tragedy at the Lottsville crossing of the Erie Railroad on Friday. Motorists who had occasion to drive Pennsylvania avenue from east to west in the early morning hours commented in favorable terms over the fact that borough officials had traffic lights burning day and night on the extreme ends of the thoroughfare. This served to halt motorists at these points, who otherwise would doubtless have been speeding out of town. Complete cooperation on the part of motorists with borough officials and the state police helped to make it a safe and sane holiday so far as this area was concerned.

Little Finland's daring swing towards the political right in her national election has given the Bolsheviks another set-back in their cold war against European democracy—but the Reds are making progress in the Far East where developments give fair warning that we may indeed be dealing with world revolution, says DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press foreign affairs analyst, in his daily column.

Many Plants Need Help
To Keep Them Upright

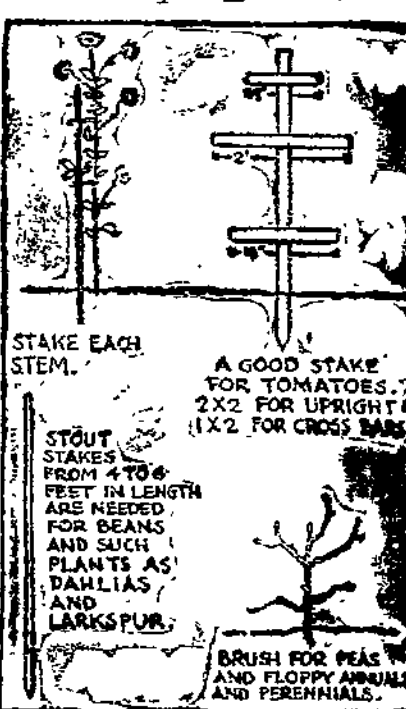

Properly staked plants insure an orderly garden. Lack of proper staking means that you are reasonably sure to have some wrecked and messy beds later in the season. A heavy rain or wind storm is likely to knock over tall and heavy foliage plants which naturally have stems not sufficiently sturdy to stand up under such circumstances.

Delphiniums are the first plants in the garden to show the need for staking. The heavy spikes of bloom on these stately perennials make them singularly susceptible to destruction by winds or heavy rains. Stake them before the buds start to open. Gladioli with heavy spikes of bloom are likely to need stakes. Lilies and iris of the taller types also need this assistance. Tall African and French marigolds are tipped over by wind or rain and become a jungle. Staking would have saved them.

The first requisite of good staking is that the stakes should be strong and capable of holding up the plant, but as unobtrusive as possible. Green painted stakes are least conspicuous. The cheapest and most efficient stakes are the bamboo canes sold in varying lengths by dealers. They may be bought already painted or in natural color and you can paint them yourself. They are strong and durable.

Heavy wire stakes are least obtrusive of all especially when painted green. Plants can be tied to them easily and held upright so that the tying cannot be distinguished until viewed at close range.

Set the stakes and tie the plants before they come into bloom. A good job of staking that will not make the plant look stiff and obviously tied up cannot be done after it has come into bloom. For plants of lighter growth that are apt to sprawl and be of untidy habit, twiggies branches carefully applied make the best supports. The tall snapdragons need staking. It pinched back and tied the tall types throw out branches and become pyramidal in bloom. The long terminal spike is sacrificed but a much greater quantity of bloom and finer garden display is obtained.

Motorists who had occasion to drive Pennsylvania avenue from east to west in the early morning hours commented in favorable terms over the fact that borough officials had traffic lights burning day and night on the extreme ends of the thoroughfare. This served to halt motorists at these points, who otherwise would doubtless have been speeding out of town. Complete cooperation on the part of motorists with borough officials and the state police helped to make it a safe and sane holiday so far as this area was concerned.

Little Finland's daring swing towards the political right in her national election has given the Bolsheviks another set-back in their cold war against European democracy—but the Reds are making progress in the Far East where developments give fair warning that we may indeed be dealing with world revolution, says DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press foreign affairs analyst, in his daily column.

Many Plants Need Help
To Keep Them Upright

Properly staked plants insure an orderly garden. Lack of proper staking means that you are reasonably sure to have some wrecked and messy beds later in the season. A heavy rain or wind storm is likely to knock over tall and heavy foliage plants which naturally have stems not sufficiently sturdy to stand up under such circumstances.

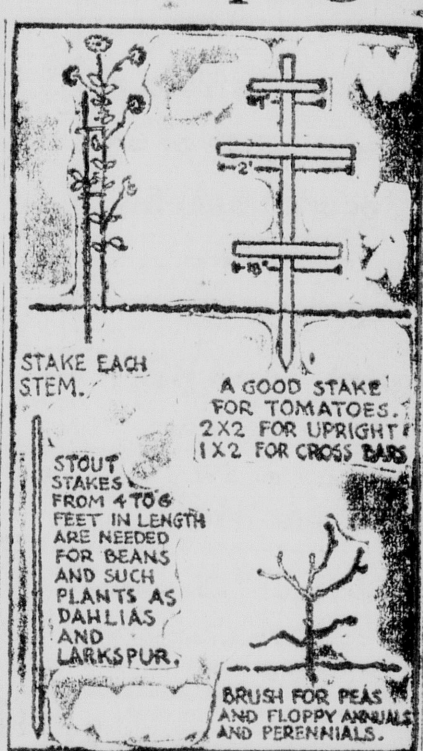

Delphiniums are the first plants in the garden to show the need for staking. The heavy spikes of bloom on these stately perennials make them singularly susceptible to destruction by winds or heavy rains. Stake them before the buds start to open.

Gladiolus with heavy spikes of bloom are likely to need stakes. Lilies and iris of the taller types also need this assistance. Tall African and French marigolds are tipped over by wind or rain and become a jungle. Staking would have saved them.

The first requisite of good staking is that the stakes should be strong and capable of holding up the plant, but as unobtrusive as possible. Green painted stakes are least conspicuous. The cheapest and most efficient stakes are the bamboo canes sold in varying lengths by dealers. They may be bought already painted or in natural color and you can paint them yourself. They are strong and durable.

Heavy wire stakes are least objectionable of all especially when painted green. Plants can be tied to them easily and held upright so that the tying cannot be distinguished until viewed at close range.

Set the stakes and tie the plants before they come into bloom. A good job of staking that will not make the plant look stiff and obviously tied up cannot be done after it has come into bloom. For plants of lighter growth that are apt to sprawl and be of untidy habit, twigsy branches carefully applied make the best supports. The tall snapdragons need staking. It pinched back and tied the tall throw out branches and become pyramids of bloom. The long terminal spike is sacrificed but a much greater quantity of bloom and finer garden display is obtained.

"Price-Gouging" and "Short-Cutting" in Housing Charged

As a result of widespread complaints about "price-gouging" and building specification "short-cutting," a sweeping investigation of veterans' housing has been launched in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, Area Rent Director Frank S. Anderson disclosed today. He said the probe will be specifically concerned with veterans' houses that were built in 1946 and 1947 with priorities and under authorization of the Federal Housing Authority.

He quoted Patrick F. Davis, Field Agent in charge of the Investigation Branch of the Office of the Housing Expediter in New York City, as reporting that complaints have been (1) that veterans have been charged more than the maximum sales prices for their homes and (2) that homes were not built according to specification contained in the builders' application to the Federal Housing Authority.

Mr. Anderson urged veterans to forward information concerning violations to Mr. Davis at the Office of the Housing Expediter, Empire State Building, 350 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Complaints should include the name and address of the builder, lot number, if possible, date of agreement to purchase, date of purchase and project serial number if available. Complaint forms are available at the Area Rent Office, located at 707 Commerce Bldg., Erie, Pa.

"Most frequent accusation against builders is 'short-cutting,'" Mr. Anderson said. "Sometimes the charge is outright omission of materials or equipment. Often it is the substitution of inferior materials."

Reminding that since January 1, 1946, there have been no restrictions on sales prices and specifications of newly constructed homes, he explained that is why the investigation includes only houses which were built in 1946 and 1947 and on which sales agreements were made before December 31, 1947.

"One significant regulation still in effect," Mr. Anderson pointed out, "is that requiring builders to give preference to veterans of World War II in the rental and purchase of all living accommodations for other than self-occupancy, during construction and for 30 days after completion."

Visiting Nurse

by Kathleen Harris

CHAPTER 27
"I'm glad you thing so," Her mother looked relieved. "I wasn't sure how you'd feel about it, dear! Or Randy—I thought Randy might not like it at all."

"I don't believe it matters a great deal whether Randy likes it or not," her daughter returned, rather shortly.

This was why the young doctor was not to know anything whatsoever about this particular matter until another week had gone by—during which Mrs. McNaughten had had that examination—and Hildred was forced to tell him. For the famous surgeon had found that her mother had a tumor. He had recommended an immediate operation.

"If you are not busy I would like to have a few minutes of your time," Hildred said to Randy. She had waited until a time when he knew he would not be—it was noon hour and the waiting room would be empty for a brief breathing space and she had sent Mamie out on some errands to keep that well-meaning eavesdropper from hearing what went on.

"Come on in," Randy looked up from his desk, the deep furrow between his sandy brows that was so characteristic.

"It's Mother." No use wasting any of his time if he was willing to be generous with it now. "She has a tumor, Randy, as I feared. She should be operated on, immediately. She was examined yesterday, by Dr. Charles Schoumaker—no doubt you've heard of him, the famous Austrian surgeon. He's visiting the Laniers and Lucien's mother was the one who suggested, and arranged for, the examination."

"I see," Randy said; the furrow came back. He reached a long arm for a pencil, began his methodical tapping with it. "Dr. Schoumaker, eh? Of course I've heard of better—anywhere in any country."

That was what Lucien had said, but Hildred was glad to have Randy corroborate it.

Oh, if only he would be a bit more human and break down and talk to her as they used to, like the pals and co-workers they were! But she must swallow face it—that was only a pretense now—those days were gone. Something had come between herself and Randy. It had started the day she had met Lucien. The day when she had realized that Randy did not love her.

"It's as bad as that and your mother is willing and if Schoumaker recommends it—I presume he will operate?—I see nothing else to do but take the risk."

She said, "Thank you, Randy. I wanted you to know, of course."

He inclined his head in acknowledgment of that. "Where will they take her? Would you like me to be there, too?"

"Oh, Randy!" That was more than she had expected, or dared hope for. Now she could not keep back the tears that had been pressing against her eyelids. "It's a small private hospital in Atlanta—the Laniers are interested in it. I hate to ask it of you, but of course I would be so glad, so relieved, if you would."

"It happens to be very fond of your mother," Randy returned. "She should have known him well enough to know that. She was his way of checking her teeth—by withdrawing the sympathy that always made them flow. But instead, because of his stern way of making such a simple statement of fact, it made Hildred feel it was said to remind her that Randy would do what he proposed for her mother's sake only—and not out of his friendship or fondness for her."

"Mumie is fond of you," She made that almost as stiff a statement as his. "I know she is grateful. I believe the arrangements can be made for Saturday, if that would suit you?"

"Saturday will suit me fine," Randy pushed back his chair. His face seemed to have softened. "You must not take it too hard, Hildy." His voice was very gentle for him. "I know you won't—I know you can meet whatever comes."

"I'll try," she promised, getting to her feet too. She must not take more of his time; he would have to have some luncheon and she wanted to go out to a private booth where she could phone Lucien, since she had promised to give her decision about her mother as soon as she could.

"I'm sure you will!" His tone was hearty now, his wide grin almost natural. He took a step toward her—then stopped as abruptly.

Had he been going to say something more? Had he had a desire, in that moment, to take her in his arms, to comfort her? But no, of course that was her imagination this time.

Randy had proved further—if such proof were needed—that he was her good staunch friend and nothing more. Then that. Even that he had offered—to be with her mother—had been done for her mother's sake, not Hildred's.

Had this interview been different she might have told him a little more—that she was practically engaged to Lucien—even letting Randy see that since that was not settled definitely yet, she still was the chance of getting out of it. But what was the use?

Well, she would abandon hope now. She might as well marry Lucien, since he wanted that so much, since nothing seemed to matter without Randy's love. And besides, nothing really did—or could now until she knew that her mother had had the operation and that she would be all right. Her dear mother... for her sake Hildred would be brave; she would put everything else aside, out of mind and out of heart.

She could have answered that it would not buy anything she wanted. But, again, what was the use? She said, "I'll wear it tonight, Lucien."

In the great drawing room the Countess once more was surrounded by her small court of friends and house guests. But this time when she saw Hildred, entering with Lucien, she rose to come forward to greet them. No doubt, even at that distance, her eyes had caught the glitter of the gorgeous, brilliant brooch on Hildred's blue dress. And of course, she realized the significance of what its wearing meant.

She bent her beautiful white head and touched the girl's smooth young cheek with her lips. Her dark eyes, so like Lucien's, held Hildred's gaze in a locked moment, saying, as his had, many things that were not put into words. And among them was a deep gratitude from one woman to another. "You are welcome, my dear," she murmured. "So very welcome!"

They could have been formal words of greeting, but they were so much more than that. They said that she, Lucien's mother, the Countess de Macena, welcomed this girl as her son's chosen fiancée. They said, as her dark eyes had, that she not only was glad, but grateful.

Hildred knew—and felt—the bonds tightening further. But the gratitude was the hardest of all. How could she fail another woman—a mother—who gave her that? If she did not consent to marry Lucien now she would feel she had betrayed the Countess as well as ruining the life of her son whom she so adored. From now on she would have to answer to the two of them if she were to try to find some way out of this tangle she so unwittingly had got herself into.

Time, she reminded herself, that was all there was to depend upon. (To be continued)

New York Business Man Is Grand Exalted Ruler of Elks

Philadelphia—George I. Hall, New York businessman, was today elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, thousands of whom have been meeting here for several days in their 84th convention which will end with an elaborate parade on Thursday.

The new supreme head of the 1948 Elks lodge of the United States and territories, with a membership of approximately 950,000, will be installed Thursday and will succeed Lafayette A. Lewis, Los Angeles attorney who has held the reins of Elksdom since last year's convention at Portland, Oregon.

An executive of the Union Carbide & Carbon Corporation, in New York, Mr. Hall has served the Order zealously for the past 22 years, having acted as exalted ruler of his own lodge, Lynbrook, Long Island, No. 1515, District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler for the Southeastern district of New York, president of the Past Exalted Rulers Association of that district, president of the New York State Elks Association, chairman of the Lodge Activities Committee of the Elks Grand Lodge, and for the past four years as member, secretary and vice-chairman of the Board of Grand Trustees.

Born in New York City 52 years ago, Mr. Hall served in the U. S. Navy during World War I. He has been extremely active in civic, patriotic, charitable activities and in various athletic and social clubs. He is a director of the Queens County Federal Savings and Loan Association, a former Governor and still a member of the Downtown A. C. of New York City, and a member of the New York Stock Transfer Association and other business organizations.

Mr. Hall is married and has a son 28 years old, George M. Hall, who has been a member of Lynbrook Lodge for seven years. He also has a 5-year-old grandson, George R. Hall, who is headed for future Elksdom. Mr. Hall's two brothers, Brig. Gen. Gene W. Hall, and Walter L. Hall are staunch Elks, the former a long-time member of Glen Falls, N. Y. lodge, the latter of Lynbrook lodge.

Testimonial Plans Drawn

One of the special features of the program being planned for the Northwest Testimonial to Charles A. French next fall will include nine beautiful girls. They will be little girls of the 12 year old class, and all will be beauty contest winners. Each will be the "Queen of Anglers" in her own county. She will reign over her followers attending the banquet from her county.

The party is being sponsored by the Northwest Division of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs. It is to be held in the New Castle Consistory Cathedral, the evening of September 11, 1948.

The purpose of the affair is to pay tribute to Commissioner French, on his reappointment by Governor James H. Duff. Fishermen over the entire state have hoped he would be retained as head of the commission because of his outstanding service during the past twelve years. Ellwood City, is warmly claimed by the Northwest Division as its own and members wish to express appreciation to the Governor for his reappointment. The Governor and many other state officials have promised to be on hand for the celebration.

Judge Grover C. Ladner of Philadelphia has agreed to be Toastmaster and Reverend Darlington E. Kulp of Reading will give the invocation. The speakers will be Senator John M. Walker and Ross L. Leffer, President of the State Game Commission, both of Pittsburgh.

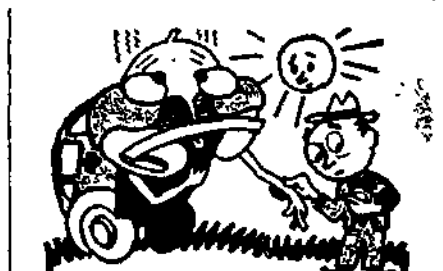

Members of the Board of Fish Commissioners, Department of Forests and Waters and The Sanitary Water Board will be at the head table along with the speakers. Robert S. Cooper, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs will express thanks to the Governor for the sportsmen of the state. The federation will be there in big numbers as a full meeting of its officers and directors has been called in the morning of that date, to be held in New Castle. Many members of the Outdoor Writers Association of America are planning to be present. Early indications are that this will be a huge gathering of outdoor people.

"Price-Gouging" and "Short-Cutting" In Housing Charged

As a result of widespread complaints about "price-gouging" and building specification "short-cutting," a sweeping investigation of veterans housing has been launched in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, Area Rent Director Frank S. Anderson disclosed today. He said the probe will be specifically concerned with veterans' houses that were built in 1946 and 1947 with priorities and under authorization of the Federal Housing Authority.

He quoted Patrick F. Davis, Field Agent in charge of the Investigation Branch of the Office of the Housing Expediter in New York City, as reporting that complaints have been (1) that veterans have been charged more than the maximum sales price for their homes and (2) that homes were not built according to specification contained in the builders' application to the Federal Housing Authority.

Mr. Anderson urged veterans to forward information concerning violations to Mr. Davis at the Office of the Housing Expediter, Empire State Building, 350 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Complaints should include the name and address of the builder, lot number, if possible, date of agreement to purchase, date of purchase and project serial number if available. Complaint forms are available at the Area Rent Office, located at 707 Commerce Bldg., Erie, Pa.

"Most frequent accusation against builders is 'short-cutting,'" Mr. Anderson said. "Sometimes the charge is outright omission of materials or equipment. Often it is the substitution of inferior materials."

Reminding that since January 1, 1948, there have been no restrictions on sales prices and specifications of newly constructed homes, he explained that is why the investigation includes only houses which were built in 1946 and 1947 and on which sales agreements were made before December 31, 1947.

"One significant regulation still in effect," Mr. Anderson pointed out, "is that requiring builders to give preference to veterans of World War II in the rental and purchase of all living accommodations for other than self-occupancy, during construction and for 30 days after completion."

Visiting Nurse by Kathleen Harris

CHAPTER 27
"I'm glad you thing so." Her mother looked relieved. "I wasn't sure how you'd feel about it, dear! Or Randy—I thought Randy might not like it at all."

"I don't believe it matters a great deal whether Randy likes it or not," her daughter returned, rather shortly.

This was why the young doctor was not to know anything whatsoever about this particular matter until another week had gone by—during which Mrs. McNaughten had had that examination—and Hildred was forced to tell him. For the famous surgeon had found that her mother had a tumor; he had recommended an immediate operation.

"If you are not busy I would like to have a few minutes of your time," Hildred said to Randy. She had waited until a time when she knew he would not be—it was noon hour and the waiting room would be empty for a brief breathing space and she had sent Mamie out on some errands to keep that well-meaning servant-dropper from hearing what went on.

"Come on in," Randy looked up from his desk, the deep furrow between his sandy brows that was so characteristic.

"It's Mother." No use wasting any of his time if he was willing to be generous with it now. "She has a tumor, Randy, as I feared. She should be operated on immediately. She was examined yesterday, by Dr. Charles Schoumaker—no doubt you've heard of him, the famous Austrian surgeon. He is visiting the Laniers and Lucien's mother was the one who suggested, and arranged for, the examination."

"I see," Randy said; the furrow came back. He reached a long arm for a pencil, began his methodical tapping with it. "Dr. Schoumaker, eh? Of course I've heard of him. None better anywhere in any country."

CHAPTER 28
WHEN Hildred phoned Lucien to say that it would be all right to make the arrangements for the operation for Saturday, she did not tell him that Doctor Baird would also be in attendance on her mother.

But when Hildred told Lucien that same evening—it was a Thursday and therefore she was dining at the big house—he took it very well. He said he did not consider it necessary as Doctor Schoumaker was capable of handling the case without any assistance. But he added that if that was the way Hildred wanted it, naturally it was all right with him.

"I want you to have everything your heart desires," he told her, his dark eyes smiling deeply into hers. They were in his rooms, but they were to dine downstairs in the big mirrored dining room at night. "Now tell me, and I am to be married, Hildred, you must believe that it will give me great pleasure to grant your every wish, my sweet."

She said, "That is not always possible, Lucien." And added to herself, even for a Lanier. Then, though she felt it was useless, she managed one last protest. "You know I have not said—yet—that I will marry you."

That was what Lucien had said, but Hildred was glad to have Randy corroborate it.

Oh, if only he would be a bit more human and break down and talk to her as they used to, like the pals and co-workers that were! But she might as well face it—that was only a pretense now—those days were gone. Something had come between herself and Randy. It had started the day she had met Lucien. The day when she had realized that Randy did not love her.

"If it's as bad as that and your mother is willing, and if Schoumaker recommends it—I presume he will operate?—I see nothing else to do but take the risk."

She said, "Thank you, Randy. I wanted you to know, of course."

He inclined his head in acknowledgment of that. "Where will they take her? Would you like me to be there, too?"

"Oh, Randy!" That was more than she had expected, or dared hope for. Now she could not keep back the tears that had been pressing against her eyeballs. "It's a small private hospital in Atlanta—the Laniers are interested in it. I hate to ask it of you, but of course I would be so glad, so relieved, if you would."

"I happen to be very fond of your mother," Randy returned. SHE should have known him well enough to know that that was his way of checking her tears back the tears that had been pressing against her eyeballs. "It's a small private hospital in Atlanta—the Laniers are interested in it. I hate to ask it of you, but of course I would be so glad, so relieved, if you would."

"Mamie is fond of you." She made that almost as stiff a statement as his. "I know she will be grateful. I believe the arrangements can be made for Saturday, if that would suit you?"

present all Laniers have given their brides-to-be."

Hildred did not want to open the case. She was afraid of what it would contain. It would be something, she knew, far too magnificent for her. It would be something she would not want to wear or to accept. Certainly not if it were the accepted gift for a Lanier bride.

"You do not seem curious," Lucien urged her. "I thought all women were curious, my sweet. You must not delay too long as already the others are waiting for us downstairs. I waited for you here, in order to give it to you beforehand as I wanted you to have it—to wear it—without delay."

Reluctantly her fingers released the catch, the lid flew open and Hildred drew a sharp breath of astonishment. She had expected something magnificent, something of great value—but even her imagination had not conceived such an exquisite piece of jewelry as now glittered before her eyes. It was a brooch, a beautiful, fragile setting, with a design of two hearts made from diamonds, perfect, pure white stones.

"Pin it on," Lucien urged again. "Over your heart, dearest, that is where it must be worn, where all the Lanier brides have always worn it."

"But Lucien, I cannot wear it! I don't mean that it is not beautiful, that I do not appreciate your wanting me to have it. But it is too beautiful for me. It is too much, truly it is!" She knew that if she consented to wear the brooch she would indeed be lost.

"Saturday will suit me fine," Randy pushed back his chair. His face seemed to have softened.

"You must not take it too hard, Hildred," his voice was very gentle for him. "I know you won't—I know you can meet whatever comes."

"I'll try," she promised, getting to her feet too. She must not take more of his time; he would have to have some luncheon and she wanted to go out to a private booth where she could phone Lucien, since she had promised to give her decision about her mother as soon as she could.

"I'm sure you will!" His tone was hearty now; his wide grin almost natural. He took a step toward her—then stopped as abruptly.

Had he been going to say something more? Had he had a desire, in that moment, to take her in his arms, to comfort her? But no, of course that was her imagination this time.

Randy had proved further—if such proof were needed—that he was her good staunch friend and nothing more than that. Even what he had offered—to be with her mother—had been done for her mother's sake, not Hildred's.

Had this interview been different she might have told him a little more—that she was practically engaged to Lucien—even letting Randy see that, since that was not settled definitely yet, there still was the chance of getting out of it. But what was the use?

Well, she would abandon hope now. She might as well marry Lucien, since he wanted that so much, since nothing seemed to matter without Randy's love. And besides, nothing really did—or could now until she knew that her mother had the operation and that she would be all right. Her dear mother... for her sake Hildred would be brave; she would put everything else aside, out of mind and out of heart.

She could have answered that it would not buy anything she wanted. But, again, what was the use? She said, "I'll wear it to-night, Lucien."

IN the great drawing room the Countess once more was surrounded by her small court of friends and house guests. But this time when she saw Hildred, entering with Lucien, she rose to come forward to greet them. No doubt, even at that distance, her eyes had caught the glitter of the gorgeous, brilliant brooch on Hildred's blue dress. And of course, she realized the significance of what she was wearing.

She bent her beautiful white head and touched the girl's smooth young cheek with her lips. Her dark eyes, so like Lucien's, held Hildred's gaze in a locked moment, saying, as his had, many things that were not put into words. And among them was a deep gratitude from one woman to another. "You are welcome, my dear," she murmured. "So very welcome!"

They could have been formal words of greeting, but they were so much more than that. They said that she, Lucien's mother, the Countess de Macena, welcomed this girl as her son's chosen fiancée. They said, as her dark eyes had, that she not only was glad, but grateful.

Hildred knew—and felt—the bonds tightening further. But the gratitude was the hardest of all. How could she fail another woman—a mother—who gave her that? If she did not consent to marry Lucien now she would feel she had betrayed the Countess as well as ruining the life of her son whom she so adored. From now on she would have to answer to the two of them if she were to try to find some way out of this tangle she so unwittingly had got herself into.

Time, she reminded herself, that was all there was to depend upon.

New York Business Man Is Grand Exalted Ruler of Elks

Philadelphia—George I. Hall, New York businessman, was today elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, thousands of whom have been meeting here for several days in their 84th convention which will end with an elaborate parade on Thursday.

The new supreme head of the 1948 Elk lodges of the United States and territories, with a member zealously for the past 22 years, having acted as exalted ruler of his own lodge, Lynbrook, Long Island, No. 1515, District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler for the Southeastern district of New York, president of the Past Exalted Rulers Association of that district, president of the New York State Elks Association, chairman of the Lodge Activities Committee of the Elks Grand Lodge, and for the past four years as member, secretary and vice-chairman of the Board of Grand Trustees.

Born in New York City 52 years ago, Mr. Hall served in the U. S. Navy during World War I. He has been extremely active in civic, patriotic, charitable activities and in various athletic and social clubs. He is a director of the Queens County Federal Savings and Loan Association, a former Governor and still a member of the Downtown A. C. of New York City, and a member of the New York Stock Transfer Association and other business organizations.

Mr. Hall is married and has a son 28 years old, George M. Hall, who has been a member of Lynbrook Lodge for seven years. He also has a 5-year-old grandson, George R. Hall, who is headed for future Elksdom. Mr. Hall's two brothers, Brig. Gen. Gene W. Hall, and Walter L. Hall are staunch Elks, the former a long-time member of Glen Falls, N. Y. lodge, the latter of Lynbrook lodge.

outstanding service during the past twelve years. French, formerly of Ellwood City, is warmly claimed by the Northwest Division as its own and members wish to express appreciation to the Governor for his reappointment. The Governor and many other state officials have promised to be on hand for the celebration.

Judge Grover C. Ladner of Philadelphia has agreed to be Toastmaster and Reverend Darlington R. Kulp of Reading will give the invocation. The speakers will be Senator John M. Walker and Ross L. Leffler, President of the State Game Commission, both of Pittsburgh.

Members of the Board of Fish Commissioners, Department of Forests and Waters and The Sanitary Water Board will be at the head table along with the speakers. Robert S. Cooper, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs will express thanks to the Governor for the sportsmen of the state.

The federation will be there in big numbers as a full meeting of its officers and directors has been called in the morning of that date, to be held in New Castle. Many members of the Outdoor Writers Association of America are planning to be present. Early indications are that this will be a huge gathering of outdoor people.

Episcopal Rector Is Speaker For 42nd Annual Conservatory Commencement

The Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge, rector of Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, has accepted the invitation of the Warren Conservatory of Music to deliver the address at its 42nd annual commencement exercises.

The graduation program has been scheduled at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday and, as always, a cordial invitation is extended to all friends of the class and the institution.

Dorothy Bohren is the only student to complete the full course of piano harmony and musical history this spring, but the following will receive diplomas in the piano and voice departments: Mrs. Chatman, Kane; Norine Holt Granquist, Akeley; Jane Hovey, Warren; Jane McDowell, Youngville; and Beverly McIntyre, Pittsfield.

In addition, these five voice students will be graduated: Gladys Jensen, Joann Yagge, Mary Mangus, Jane Hovey and Beverly Adams, all of Warren.

Mrs. Ethel R. Harriger will receive a diploma for having completed the special teachers' course.

Program numbers for this year's commencement have been arranged as follows:

Concerto in E flat (1st movement), Liszt—Dorothy Bohren, with Adelaide Swanson at the second piano.

My Hero from The Chocolate Soldier, Strauss—Beverly Adams, Valde de Concerto, Wieniawski—Mrs. Chatman.

Air Remont from Mitrano, Rossi—Jane Hovey.

Concerto in A minor (1st movement), Grieg—Norine Holt Granquist, with Ruth Titchner at the second piano.

Concerto in B minor, Mendelssohn—Jane Hovey, with Lillian Larson at the second piano.

Nula Cheronis Is Well Received In Her Junior Recital

Another in the series of pleasing end-of-the-year recitals at the Warren Conservatory of Music, was that given by Nula Cheronis, former piano pupil of Alice Shawkey, with Joseph Guffre, tenor, assisting.

The program was opened by a Bach "Prelude and Fugue," No. 21 in B flat. This number is most exacting for the student pianist, but Miss Cheronis gave it a very steady and musical presentation.

Mr. Guffre appeared after her first group, to sing two numbers. "Trees" was perhaps the favorite. Mr. Guffre reveals progress at each hearing and possesses a beautiful tenor tone that is rapidly becoming well known through his radio appearances.

Miss Cheronis' second group consisted of two Schumann selections, the "Traumerei" proving a popular one with the audience, and the young pianist displaying a lovely tone and subtle phrasing.

The ever-popular "Because" won approval from the audience in the singer's second grouping.

Miss Cheronis next played the original "Warsaw Concerto" by Adornell. This very difficult number was given with a wealth of fine tone, many contrasts and fine attention to climaxes. The high spot of her whole program came in the rousing Grieg "Concerto," with Miss Lillian Larson at the second piano for orchestra parts. Miss Cheronis played this great number with excellent control, faithful attention to the many difficult passages, and rising with great power and richness of tone in the climaxes, remarkable playing for a 14-year-old student.

Granquist - Benson Nuptials Read In 1st Baptist Church

At 1:30 p. m. Saturday, June 19, in the First Baptist church, Rev. Milton Perry officiated for the double ring ceremony which united in marriage Alice Cecilia Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Benson, Russell, and John Curtis Brasington, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Brasington, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Traditional wedding selections were played by Miss Norine Holt, schoolmate of the bride.

The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore a white suit, with blue accessories and a corsage of red roses. Her mother of honor and only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Florence Swanson, who wore a light blue suit, white accessories and corsage of white roses.

William Granquist, Akeley, served his cousin as best man. Ushers were Louis Benson and Frederick Brasington, brothers of the principals.

Mrs. Benson and Mrs. Brasington both chose blue suits and each had a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception followed at the bride's home, which was beautifully decorated with roses and ferns. The guest list of sixty included the following from out-of-town:

Mr. and Mrs. David Brasington, Mr. and Mrs. James Manton, Niagara Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Elward Lawson and son, Ellward, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawson and son, of Jamestown, N. Y.; Mrs. Sarah Gillingham and daughter, Mary, Florence; Mrs. Mary McCarty, Pittsburgh; Mrs. John Brasington, Elizabeth Brasington, Warren; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Arthur and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Granquist, William Granquist, Mr. and Mrs. Max Larson, Kenneth Larson, Mrs. Holt, Norine Holt and Jeanette Randall, Akeley, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Brasington and children, Virginia Roberts, Russell. Besides these, there were many friends from Warren.

A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bridal figures and a bell, centered the bride's table. Mrs. Mabel Sechrist, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Anna Johnson, only aunt of the bride, served. Other aides were Mrs. Eleanor Zimmerman and Mrs. Hazel Gordon.

Later in the evening the couple left for a wedding trip to Watkins Glen and the Finger Lakes region. They are now at home to friends at 914 Fourth avenue. Both young people are graduates of Russell High School and both are employed by the Bell Telephone Company.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. David Brasington and Mrs. Allan Arthur, Akeley; Betty Wheelock, Russell; Mrs. Oscar Benson and daughters, Russell.

Condition Of Tot Hit By Car Reported Fair

A five-year-old Pittsfield district boy was reported in fair condition in Warren General Hospital today as the result of serious injuries received in the only accident reported to Pennsylvania State Police of the Warren substation over the long holiday weekend.

The youngster, Arthur Bailey, Jr., of R. D. 1 Pittsfield, was struck Sunday evening at 9:30 o'clock by a car being driven southward in the Lottsville-Wrightsville road by Marvin A. Sitter, 26, also of R. D. 1 Pittsfield. The driver said he did not see the boy until he was only a short distance away.

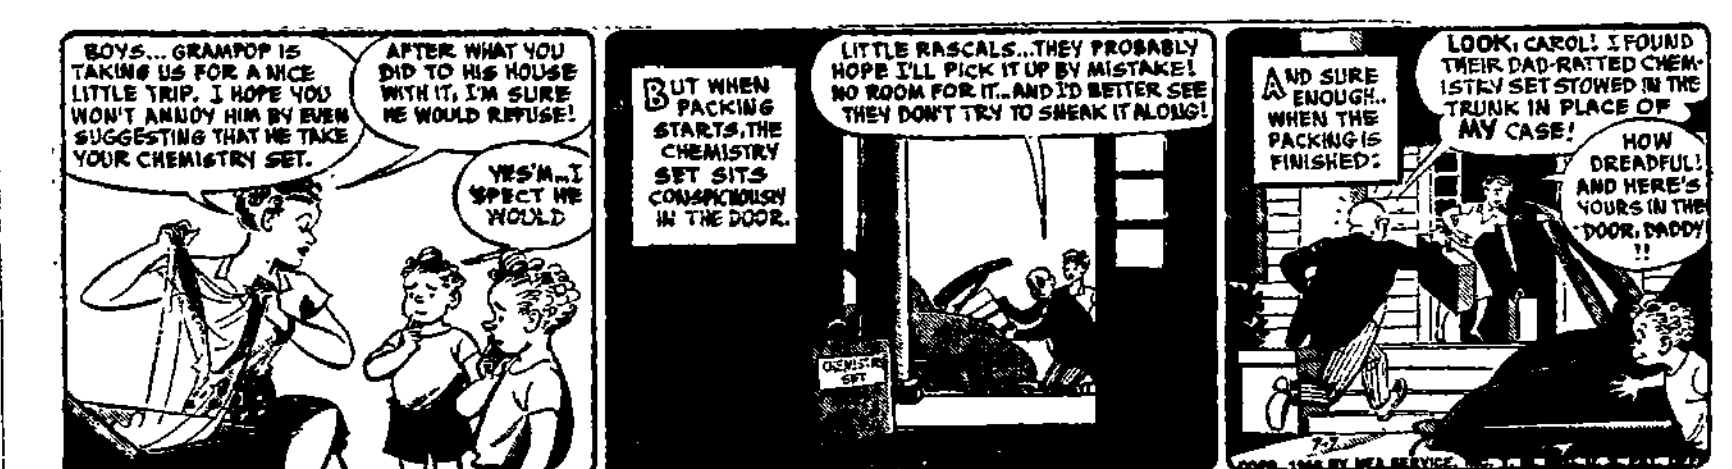

The right front fender of the car struck the youngster, tearing a jagged gash in his abdomen. He was taken to Warren General Hospital where his condition was reported today as "fair."

State Police said traffic in the district was heavy throughout most of the holiday weekend, but let up somewhat yesterday. "Most of the drivers seemed to be taking it easy, though," police added.

Episcopal Rector Is Speaker For 42nd Annual Conservatory Commencement

The Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge, rector of Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, has accepted the invitation of the Warren Conservatory of Music to deliver the address at its 42nd annual commencement exercises.

The graduation program has been scheduled at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday and, as always, a cordial invitation is extended to all friends of the class and the institution.

Dorothy Bohren is the only student to complete the full course of piano, harmony and musical history this spring, but the following will receive diplomas in the piano and voice departments: Mrs. Chatman, Kane; Norine Holt Granquist, Akeley; Jane Hovey, Warren; Jane McDowell, Youngsville; and Beverly McIntyre, Pittsfield.

In addition, these five voice students will be graduated: Gladys Jensen, Joann Yagge, Mary Mangus, Jane Hovey and Beverly Adams, all of Warren.

Mrs. Ethel E. Harriger will receive a diploma for having completed the special teachers' course. Program numbers for this year's commencement have been arranged as follows:

Concerto in E flat (1st movement), Liszt—Dorothy Bohren, with Adelaide Swanson at the second piano.

My Hero from The Chocolate Soldier, Strauss—Beverly Adams. Valse de Concerto, Wieniawski—Mrs. Chatman.

Ah! Rendi from Mitrano, Rossi—Jane Hovey.

Concerto in A minor (1st movement), Grieg—Norine Holt Granquist, with Ruth Titchner at the second piano.

Concerto in B minor, Mendelssohn—Jane Hovey, with Lillian Larson at the second piano.

Spirit Flower, Campbell-Tipton—Gladys Jensen.

Address—Mr. Rutledge. Fugue, Impromptu, Chopin—Jane McDowell.

Voi che Sapete, Mozart—Mary Mangus.

Concerto in E flat (3rd movement), Liszt—Beverly McIntyre, with Lillian Swanson at the second piano.

Elsa's Dream, Wagner—Joann Yagge.

Presentation of diplomas—Dr. LeRoy B. Campbell.

Benediction—Mr. Rutledge.

Nula Cheronis Is Well Received In Her Junior Recital

Another in the series of pleasing end-of-the-year recitals at the Warren Conservatory of Music, was that given by Nula Cheronis, former piano pupil of Alice Shawkey, with Joseph Guiffre, tenor, assisting.

The program was opened by a Bach "Prelude and Fugue", No. 21 in B flat. This number is most exacting for the student pianist, but Miss Cheronis gave it a very steady and musical presentation.

Mr. Guiffre appeared after her first group, to sing two numbers. "Trees" was perhaps the favorite. Mr. Guiffre reveals progress at each hearing and possesses a beautiful tenor tone that is rapidly becoming well known through his radio appearances.

Miss Cheronis' second group consisted of two Schumann selections, the "Traumerei" proving a popular one with the audience, and the young pianist displaying a lovely tone and subtle phrasing.

The ever-popular "Because" won approval from the audience in the singer's second grouping.

Miss Cheronis next played the original "Warsaw Concerto" by Adinolfi. This very difficult number was given with a wealth of fine tone, many contrasts and fine attention to climaxes. The high spot of her whole program came in the famous Grieg "Concerto" with Miss Lillian Larsen at the second piano for orchestra parts. Miss Cheronis played this great number with excellent control, faithful attention to the many difficult passages, and rising with great power and richness of tone in the climaxes, remarkable playing for a 14-year-old student.

Granquist - Benson Nuptials Read In Ist Baptist Church

At 1:30 p. m. Saturday, June 19, in the First Baptist church, Rev. Milton Perry officiated for the double ring ceremony which united in marriage Alice Cecilia Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Benson, Russell, and John Curtis Brasington, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Brasington, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Traditional wedding selections were played by Miss Norine Holt, schoolmate of the bride. The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore a white suit, with blue accessories and a corsage of red roses. Her matron of honor and only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Florence Swanson, who wore a light blue suit, white accessories and corsage of white roses.

William Granquist, Akeley, served his cousin as best man. Ushers were Louis Benson and Frederick Brasington, brothers of the principals.

Mrs. Benson and Mrs. Brasington both chose blue suits and each had a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception followed at the bride's home, which was beautifully decorated with roses and ferns. The guest list of sixty included the following from out-of-town:

Mr. and Mrs. David Brasington, Mr. and Mrs. James Manton, Niagara Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Ellward Lawson and son, Ellward, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawson and son, of Jamestown, N. Y.; Mrs. Sarah Gillingham and daughter, Mary, Florence; Mrs. Mary McCarty, Pittsburgh; Mrs. John Brasington, Elizabeth Brasington, Warren; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Arthur and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Granquist, William Granquist, Mr. and Mrs. Max Larson, Kenneth Larson, Mrs. Holt, Norine Holt and Jeanette Randall, Akeley; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Brasington and children, Virginia Roberts, Russell.

Besides these, there were many friends from Warren.

A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom figures and a bell, centered the bride's table. Mrs. Mabel Sechrist, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Anna Johnson, only aunt of the bride, served. Other aides were Mrs. Eleanor Zimmerman and Mrs. Hazel Gorman.

Later in the evening, the couple left for a wedding trip to Watkins Glen and the Finger Lakes region. They are now at home to friends at 914 Fourth avenue. Both young people are graduates of Russell High School and both are employed by the Bell Telephone Company.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. David Brasington and Mrs. Allan Arthur Akeley. Betty Wheeler, Russell; Mrs. Oscar Benson and daughters, Russell.

Condition Of Tot Hit By Car Reported Fair

A five-year-old Pittsfield district boy was reported in fair condition in Warren General Hospital today as the result of serious injuries received in the only accident reported to Pennsylvania State Police of the Warren substation over the long holiday weekend.

The youngster, Arthur Bailey Jr., of R. D. 1 Pittsfield, was struck Sunday evening at 9:30 o'clock by a car being driven southward in the Lottsville Wrightsville road by Marvin A. Sitter, 26, also of R. D. 1 Pittsfield.

The driver said he did not see the boy until he was only a short distance away.

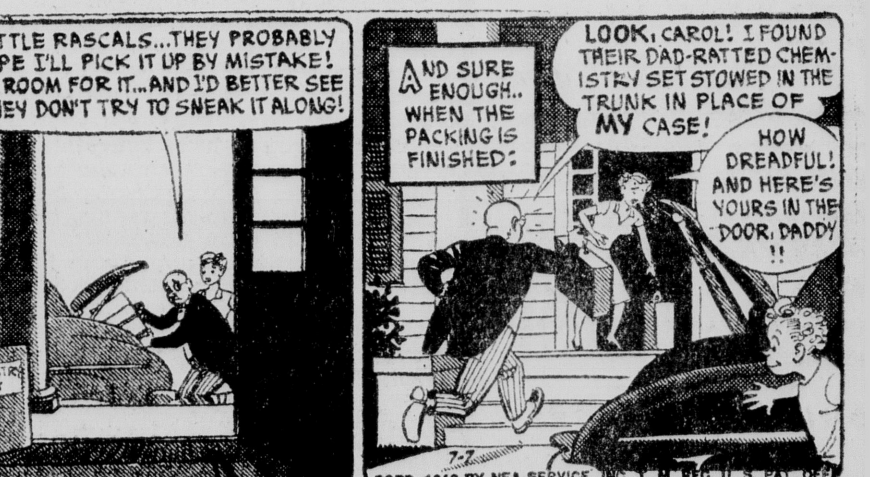

The right front fender of the car struck the youngster, tearing a jagged gash in his abdomen. He was taken to Warren General Hospital where his condition was reported today as "fair."

State Police said traffic in the district was heavy throughout most of the holiday weekend, but let up somewhat yesterday. "Most of the drivers seemed to be taking it easy, though," police added.

Probe Death Of Co. Native At Jamestown

Police today continued their probe into the slaying of a Warren county native, John Stewart Brown, 44, of 509 Allen street, Jamestown, N. Y., Sunday morning at 1 a. m.

Coroner Samuel T. Bowers said Brown, an employee of the Jamestown Veneer and Plywood Corp., probably died instantly of a bullet wound near the heart.

Police said they found Brown sprawled face down in a hallway at 509 Allen street after they had received a call from an unidentified woman who told police she had heard a shot.

A short time later, a man identified as Charles Anzalone, 51, of the same address, surrendered to police. Assistant District Attorney Sidney T. Heves said Anzalone had signed a statement admitting the shooting, "but could give no reason for it."

Brown was born in Lottsville Dec. 12, 1903. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Lottie Bradley, and a son Robert, both of Jamestown; a daughter, Gladys, of Spring Creek; and a sister, Mrs. Genevieve Westerlund, and a brother, Clifford Brown, of Jamestown.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the Powers funeral home in Jamestown.

BULLETINS

Heilinki, Finland, July 6.—(AP)—Finnish political circles believe today the Communists and their Allies will demand key posts in the new cabinet despite their loss of at least a dozen parliamentary seats in last week's election.

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

The question of an additional pay boost for borough parks and street department employees is expected to come before the July meeting of Warren borough council in City hall this evening at 7:30 o'clock. The workers were granted a five to seven cents an hour raise at the June meeting of council, but the workers expressed their dissatisfaction by staying away from their jobs for two days. They returned to work after receiving a promise from committee chairman that the subject of a wage boost would be again considered at this month's council session.

Market Quotations

New York, July 6.—(AP)—Railroad issues improved in a steady and generally narrow stock market today.

Wair activity developed at the opening of the first session after the long Fourth of July holiday but trading soon slowed to a walk.

General Eisenhower's statement that he is not a presidential candidate had little immediate effect on price trends. Despite the power of the "draft Eisenhower" movement, the financial district has expected President Truman to get the Democratic nomination and the general's announcement tended to confirm this theory.

Steel stocks did little although the groundwork of a serious threat to production has been laid in the refusal to work of several miners employed by steel mills.

Among issues marked up were St. Paul, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Lackawanna, Montgomery Ward, Caterpillar Tractor, Zenith Radio (at a new high for the year with a substantial gain), Radio Corp., John-Manville, and Sinclair Oil.

Middle - Aged Couple Found Shot To Death

Birmingham, Pa., July 6.—(AP)—A finding of murder and suicide was returned today by Coroner E. Blair Shore, of Huntingdon county, in the shotgun deaths of a middle-aged couple, parents of children.

Shore, completing an investigation of the Sunday night shooting, identified the victims as Harold Elbert Mingle, 43, and his wife, Jessie Mildred Mingle, 40.

Shore gave this account of the shooting: Mingle and his wife had a quarrel in their home and she ran out into the street. He stood on the porch and fired two charges from a double-barreled shotgun. The first charge hit her in the right side of her back and hip. The second charge struck her in the back of the head, causing instant death.

Mingle then went into his bedroom, placed the shotgun under his chin and fired again. The charge blew off the left side of his face.

Seven of the couple's children, returning from an automobile ride a few minutes after the shooting, found the mother's body in the street, outside her home.

Win Over Warren V. F. W. Is Lone Bright Spot On Holiday Card For National Forge Nine

National Forge baseballers opened a long holiday week end with a 4-2 win over the Warren V. F. W. and then ran into plenty of trouble, losing one game to Black Ash and two to Brookville.

Wood, Black Ash catcher, led the team at the plate, getting five hits in five trips as the Crawford countants shut out the N.F.O., 9 to 0. Armstrong, the winning moundman, fanned 11 men, issued three walks and yielded only three hits for the Forge crew.

Both scraps at Brookville ended with the N.F.O. squad on the short end of a 2-1 count, but the second game went 13 innings before a decision was reached.

In the extra inning affair, both the Forge and Brookville notched a single run in the first frame. The remainder of the regulation distance saw a tight pitching duel between Whitaker and Carlson without the deadlock being broken, sending the game into extra innings. Then, with two out in the 13th frame, Whitaker took an easy roller but the peg to first was wild, allowing the winning run to cross the plate.

A crowd of 300 turned out for the close match between the Forge and the Warren Vets at the State Hospital Saturday.

N.F.O. got its runs early, punching across three markers in the opening frame and a single in the second. The Vets notched their two runs in the sixth.

Peterson, the winning moundman, fanned three batters, issued no walks and gave up seven hits, one a double by Baker. R. Kifer, losing hurler, fanned seven swatters, issued five walks and was reached for eight hits.

Best fielding play of the game was credited to Notoro, Vets third sacker, who stopped a hard smash off Murphy's bat with Forge runners on second and third.

MIDDLE ATLANTIC
By The Associated Press	Vandergrift, Johnston and Butcher swept holiday double bills yesterday from Oil City, New Castle and Erie, respectively, while in another Middle Atlantic League two-game encounter, Uniontown and Youngstown broke even.

Johnston's wins, 11-7 and 8-7, over the New Castle Chiefs, enabled the Johnnies to keep within a game and a half of the league-leading Vandergrift Flyers. Home runs by Bob Mitchell and Roy Nichols helped Johnston win the first game. In the second, the Johnnies combined four hits, a walk and an error for five runs to come from behind in the ninth inning. Johnston has won eight games in a row.

Vandergrift also put on a ninth-inning rally to win its first game from Oil City, 6-5, then staged a slugging spree to take the second tilt, 20-8.

Outbatted in both games with Erie, the Butler Yanks nevertheless bunched their hits to win 8-7 and 14-6. In the first game, Butler's catcher, Edward Kuller, hit a home run to two triples a double and a single to count seven runs in two frames. In the other match, Saliers Vince O'Grady and Frank Turley each got five for five.

The Uniontown Coal Barons defeated the Youngstown Colts 3-1 in a hard fought afternoon game, but the Colts came back to take the night tilt, 6-1. Johnny Kucab of Youngstown pitched a no-hitter for 6½ innings of the second game but George Hallow halted the sequence with a double in the top of the seventh. The win broke the Colts' nine-game losing streak.

Sunset Baseball Loop Opens Second Half Race Tomorrow

With the first half championship binging on the outcomes of the playoffs of three postponed games, the four Sunset Baseball League nines will start their second half campaign tomorrow evening.

The tilts, listed for 6:30 p. m. DST, pair the State Hospital nine against Glendora Coffee on Russell field and the V. F. W. against Struthers Wells on the State Hospital field at North Warren.

Dates for the playoff of the three postponed first-half tilts have not been set by the team managers. The first of the four team still retaining a mathematical chance of winning the title.

The second half campaign is expected to be even a closer race since the State Hospital nine has added several new players to bring that squad up to the strength of the other three teams in the circuit.

Teams listed first:

Swim Group Divided Into Two Classes

Bill Mulvey, physical director for the YMCA, announced this morning that because of the large number of boys taking advantage of the Y's learn to swim campaign this month, it becomes necessary to divide the group into two classes.

The following boys are to come to class each Tuesday and Friday at 9:30 a. m.: Allen Stevens, Tom Erickson, Dick Walters, Joseph Simmons, Clarence Simmes, Frank Cohen, Dick Danielson, Larry Kittern, Virgil Kittern, Jerry Anderson, David Nosel, Dick Eggleston, David Nosel, Dick Anderson, Dick Rickerson, John Wiedmaier and Jim Mathis.

The following class will report Tuesday and Friday mornings at 10:30 o'clock: John Scherist, Francis Jackson, Ronny Harrison, Carl Calhoun, Ronald Zerbe, Stanley Warren, Joe DeVaul, Bob Fratz, Randy Johnson, Billy Clark.

Today's games: Hamilton at Hornell, Olean at Lockport, Jarrowtown at Bradford, Wellsville at Batavia.

PONY LEAGUE

By The Associated Press
Two teams in the PONY League's bottom half surprised over the holidays.
Fancy hitting helped Olean's Oilers leapfrog into fifth place over the Wellsville Red Sox and Bradford Blue Wings.
Hornell's last three-game winning streak of the year. They beat Jamestown 8-7 Saturday, Batavia 7-6 Sunday and Hamilton 7-5 yesterday. Hamilton ended it by turning the tables 14-2 in a return engagement last night.

The Oilers got six doubles and four homers out of 15 hits yesterday to defeat Wellsville 15-2. Sunday Olean defeated Jamestown 15-1.
A twin victory over the leading Lockport Reds yesterday, 8-5 and 3-2, put the Batavia Clippers into third place, ahead of the Hamilton Cardinals.

MIDDLE ATLANTIC

By The Associated Press

Vandergrift, Johnstown and Butler swept holiday double bills yesterday from Oil City, New Castle and Erie, respectively, while in another Middle Atlantic League two-game encounter, Uniontown and Youngstown broke even.

Johnstown's wins, 11-7 and 8-7, over the New Castle Chiefs, enabled the Johnnies to keep within a game and a half of the league-leading Vandergrifts. Pioneer's home runs by Bob Mitchell and Roy Nichols helped Johnstown win the first game. In the second, the Johnnies combined four hits, a walk and an error for five runs to come from behind in the ninth inning. Johnstown has won eight games in a row.

Vandergrift also put on a ninth inning rally to win its first game from Oil City, 6-5, then staged a slugging spree to take the second tilt, 20-8.

Cutbush in both games with Erie, the Butler Yanks nevertheless bunched their hits to win 8-7 and 14-5. In the first game, Butler added catcher Edward Killian's homer to two triples, a double and a single to count seven runs in two frames. In the other match, Sailors Vince O'Grady and Frank Turley each got five for five.

The Uniontown Coal Barons defeated the Youngstown Colts 3-1 in a hard fought afternoon game, but the Colts came back to take the night tussle, 6-1. Johnny Kucab of Youngstown pitched a no-hitter for 6 1/2 innings of the second game but George Hollow halted the sequence with a double in the top of the seventh. The win broke the Colts' nine-game losing streak.

Sunset Baseball Loop Opens Second Half Race Tomorrow

Struthers Wells punched across three runs in the ninth inning to come from behind and defeat Sheffield, 12 to 10, in a non-league baseball scrap at Sheffield Sunday.

Erik had a home run for Sheffield in the first inning, and Steffan duplicated the performance in the fourth. F. Fitz, Sheffield shortstop, hit a brace of triples and a double.

By HERMAN BARRON

Written Especially for AP News-features-Fifth of a Series

There are two things to remember in playing the No. 8 iron.

1-With this club your feet should be a little closer together than when using the longer irons.

2-Use a slightly open stance favoring the right foot. This is done by taking the left foot back about 2 or 3 inches from the square stance.

With the first half championship hanging on the outcome of the playoffs of three postponed games, the four Sunset Baseball League nines will start their second half campaign tomorrow evening.

The tilt, slated for 6:30 p. m. DST, pairs the State Hospital nine against Glendora Coffee on Russell field and the V. F. W. against Struthers Wells on the State Hospital field at North Warren.

Dates for the playoff of the three postponed first-half tilts have not been set by the team managers. The first half race was a thriller, with three of the four team still retaining a mathematical chance of winning the title.

Barron's 8 Iron Shot

Another slight change in playing the 8 iron is in the pivot. Here the pivoting of your body is restricted somewhat as is the swing which becomes slightly shorter. But the club should still be gripped on the end.

As in all shots, the head should remain steady with your eyes on the ball throughout the entire swing.

SOFTBALL MARATHON WON BY INDIANS

The Indians won a softball marathon over the Yanks, 20 to 13, in a Youngsville League tilt on the Youngsville field.

For the Indians, it was 20 runs, 13 hits and two errors, while the Yanks had 13 runs, 11 hits and five errors.

Batteries: Titto and Carr for Indians, Zuerl and Smith for the Yanks.

PONY LEAGUE

By The Associated Press

Two teams in the PONY League's bottom half surprised over the holidays.

Fancy hitting helped Olean's Oilers leapfrog into fifth place over the Wellsville Red Sox and Bradford Blue Wings.

Hornell's last place Maple Leafs had their first three-game winning streak of the year. They beat Jamestown 9-7 Saturday, Batavia 7-6 Sunday and Hamilton 7-5 yesterday. Hamilton ended it by turning the tables 14-2 in a return engagement last night.

The Oilers got six doubles and four homers out of 15 hits yesterday to defeat Wellsville 15-2. Sunday Olean defeated Jamestown 15-1.

A twin victory over the leading Lockport Red Sox yesterday, 8-5 and 3-2, put the Batavia Clippers into third place, ahead of the Hamilton Cardinals.

Smith And Custer Announcment of Nuptials In Ohio Of Interest Here

Mr. and Mrs. Banks B. Custer, 229 Mohegan Trail, Willoughby, O., and formerly of Warren, announce the marriage of their daughter, Louise Belle, to Stewart P. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Smith, Chardon Road, Wickliffe, O., on Saturday, June 26.

The ceremony was solemnized at four o'clock in the afternoon in the Mentor Plains Methodist church. Rev. Charles Ireland officiating. The bride wore a white summer dress with a full skirt and a full train. The groom wore a white suit. The bride's father, Mr. Custer, was the best man. The groom's father, Mr. Smith, was the officiant.

The bride wore an off-the-shoulder gown of white marquisette, with ruffling edging the illusion neckline, and a six-inch ruffle edging the skirt and extending up the back to form a bustle. Her finger ring had lace edging and fell from a tangle of seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

She was escorted and given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Barbara Jean, as maid of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Jean Smith, as bridesmaid. Miss Custer wore a dusty blue marquisette in colonial style, with illusion neckline and bustle-back. Her large picture hat was of blue, also. Miss Smith's frock of pink marquisette was fashioned in off-the-shoulder lines, with ruffling trimming the neckline. Her headband was of pink net and roses. Each girl had a bouquet of pink roses, daisies and blue delphinium.

Tom Morcet was best man and ushers were Fred Patterson and William Frederick, Jr. The bride's mother wore a black and white print and Mrs. Smith wore a blue and white print, each with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The reception followed in the Arrowhead Club dining room, where the bride's table was decorated with white flowers and candles and centered with a four-tier cake topped with bride and groom figurines. The guest list of 200 included persons from Wickliffe and Kent, O.; Willoughby, Del.; Warren, Russell, Sparansburg.

After a week's wedding trip, the newlyweds are at home on Chardon Road, Wickliffe. Both were graduated from the Willoughby Union High School in 1944. The bride is employed by the Ohio Rubber Company in Willoughby and the bridegroom at Cook Cleland's Euclid avenue airport.

Berry And Martin Ceremony June 19 At State College

Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Martin, of Salunga, announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret June, to Gerald C. Berry, of 225 Watson Place, Warren. The ceremony took place at 3:30 p. m. Saturday, June 19, in Grace Lutheran church at State College, Dr. J. F. Harkins officiating.

Dr. Ralph F. Nielsen, of State College, was at the organ for the wedding selections.

The bride chose traditional white satin with full length train. Short sleeves were complemented with white satin mitts, and a draped effect formed a V-neckline. Small satin buttons closed the bodice, extending to the waistline and meeting the very full skirt. Her fingertip veil was edged in lace and fell from a covered sash. A white orchid covered her white Bible and was showered with satin streamers.

The maid of honor, Betty Jane LeFever, of Lancaster, wore rose satin styled with short puffed sleeves, and matching ruffles at the yoke and about the full skirt. Mitts matched the gown. Bridesmaids were Jean Dalton, Lansdowne, in yellow crepe, and Mrs. Donald Currie, Warren, wearing aqua crepe. Their frocks, with matching mitts, were designed with cap sleeves, ruffles about the yoke and waistline, and full skirts. The maid of honor had a headband of Tulleman roses, lavender sweet peas and baby's breath.

Gordon Gerould was best man for Mr. Berry and ushers were James Walker, Lancaster, and Richard Bell, State College. A reception for fifty guests followed at the Pi Kappa Phi house where the luncheon was served buffet style from table decorated with pink and white sweet peas. The four-tier wedding cake which formed the centerpiece, was topped with a nosegay of white sweet peas. Guests were from Salunga, Lancaster, Carlisle, Sheffield and Warren.

For a Canadian honeymoon, the bride chose a suit of light blue gabardine, natural straw hat, white accessories and a white orchid.

They will make their home at State College, where Mr. Berry is a senior in the chemical engineering school. He was graduated from Warren High School in 1938 and was employed by Struthers-Wells prior to entering the Army Air Forces. Two of his three years in service were spent in the European theatre.

His bride holds a bachelor of arts degree in psychology from Pennsylvania State College and has just completed a year of graduate study in clinical psychology at the same school.

A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents. After a wedding trip to Bermuda and Maine, the couple will live in this city.

The bride is a graduate of Swarthmore College. Dr. Durham is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and Jefferson Medical School.

A "PEACE PLATE" FOR TODAY

Save Wheat! Save Meat! Save the Peace!

THURSDAY PEACE PLATE

Savory answer to that "What to have for dinner that's cheap" question—stuffed onions!

We suggest large, mild Bermuda type onions filled with tasty bits of ground ham. Braised to a luscious brown, each plump onion is circled by piping hot baked beans.

There's good sturdy eating in this onion-ham-bean combination. And of course it's low-cost. You can use left over ham—or luncheon meat. And onions are plentiful.

HAM STUFFED ONIONS
4 large sweet onions
2 tablespoons ham drippings
2 cup celery, sliced
1 tablespoon parsley, minced
1 cup cooked ham, ground
Salt and pepper
Vegetable stock (onion)

Peel on one and remove tops. Simmer in salted water until almost tender; drain. Remove the centers without disturbing outer layers. Chop centers.

Melt 2 tablespoons drippings in skillet; add the minced onion, celery, and parsley. Cook a few minutes, add ground ham, ground ham, salt, and pepper. Moisten with vegetable stock—water in which onions cooked—mix well. Fill onion shells.

Smith And Custer Nuptials In Ohio Of Interest Here

Mr. and Mrs. Banks B. Custer, 229 Mohegan Trail, Willoughby, O., and formerly of Warren, announce the marriage of their daughter, Louise Belle, to Stewart P. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Smith, Chardon Road, Wickliffe, O., on Saturday, June 26.

The ceremony was solemnized at four o'clock in the afternoon in the Mentor Plains Methodist church, Rev. Charles Ireland officiating. Palms and white summer flowers were used in an attractive altar setting. Mrs. Frank Cook was at the organ and the soloist was Betty Cox.

The bride wore an off-the-shoulder gown of white marquisette, with ruffling edging the illusion neckline and a six-inch ruffle edging the skirt and extending up the back to form a bustle. Her fingertip veil had lace edging and fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

She was escorted and given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Barbara Jean, as maid of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Jean Smith, as bridesmaid. Miss Custer wore dusty blue marquisette in colonial style, with illusion neckline and bustle-back. Her large picture hat was of blue, also. Miss Smith's frock of pink marquisette was fashioned in off-the-shoulder lines, with ruffling trimming the neckline. Her headband was of pink net and roses. Each girl had a bouquet of pink roses, daisies and blue delphinium.

Mr. Moreen was best man and ushers were Fred Patterson and William Frederick, Jr.

The bride's mother wore a black and white print and Mrs. Smith wore a blue and white print, each with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The reception followed in the Arrowhead Club dining room, where the bride's table was decorated with white flowers and candles and centered with a four-tier cake topped with bride figures in miniature. The guest list of 200 included persons from Wickliffe and Kent, O.; Wilmington, Del.; Warren, Russell, Spartansburg.

After a week's wedding trip, the newlyweds are at home on Chardon Road, Wickliffe. Both were graduated from the Willoughby Union High School in 1944. The bride is employed by the Ohio Rubber Company in Willoughby and the bridegroom at Cook Cleveland's Euclid avenue airport.

Announcement of Durham and Frorer Rites Is Received

Friends of the Dr. J. R. Durham family, formerly of Warren, will read with interest the following from the Saturday, June 19 issue of the Wilmington, Del., Journal "Every Evening":

Miss Harriet Frorer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Frorer of Weldin Road, will become the bride of Dr. Davis G. Durham, son of Dr. and Mrs. James R. Durham of 2405 West Seventeenth street, at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Friends' Meeting House.

Overseers will be Mr. and Mrs. Leon Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Newlin T. Booth, Sr., New Castle, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ayers.

The bride, escorted by her father will wear a white satin gown with fingertip sleeves featuring a deep lace cuff, high round neckline and lace yoke. The full skirt ends in a train. She will wear a fingertip veil of net and carry white gardenias and orchids.

Mrs. John P. Taylor of Carlisle, Pa., will be maid of honor and Miss Marie Booth of New Castle, Pa., will be bridesmaid. Bridesmaids will be Mrs. Raymond Gilbert, Cambridge, Mass., and Mrs. J. Richard Durham, Jr., Ann Pinkerton, Stratford, Pa., niece of the bridegroom, will be flower girl, and J. Richard Durham, III, this city, nephew of the bridegroom, will be ring bearer.

The bride's attendants will be dressed in turquoise marquisette featuring full skirts, low round necklines and cap sleeves with pink net mitts. They will carry pink Rubina lilies. The little flower girl will wear a long pale pink satin gown and carry a bouquet of the lilies.

The bride's mother has selected turquoise crepe with yellow orchid corsage and toast colored hat and gloves. Mrs. Durham's costume will be a gray crepe gown with corsage of bachelor buttons and hat of bachelor button blue.

Dr. J. Richard Durham, Jr., will be best man for his brother. Ushers will be Mr. Francis X. Gallagher, Mr. W. W. Pinkerton, Jr., Stratford, Pa., Dr. Robert Fox, Dr. John Furlong, both of Philadelphia, Mr. Frank Wells, Oswego, N. Y., and Dr. William Sturman of New York City.

A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents. After a wedding trip to Bermuda and Maine, the couple will live in this city.

The bride is a graduate of Swarthmore College. Dr. Durham is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and Jefferson Medical School.

Office for Food and Feed Conservation Suggests:

A "PEACE PLATE" FOR TODAY

Save Wheat! Save Meat! Save the Peace!

THURSDAY PEACE PLATE

Savory answer to that "what to have for dinner that's cheap" question—stuffed onions!

We suggest large, mild Bermuda type onions filled with tasty bits of ground ham. Braised to a luscious brown, each plump onion is circled by piping hot baked beans.

There's good sturdy eating in this onion-ham-bean combination. And of course it's low-cost. You can use left over ham—or luncheon meat. And onions are plentiful.

HAM STUFFED ONIONS

4 large sweet onions
2 tablespoons ham drippings
1/2 cup celery, diced
1 tablespoon parsley, minced
1 cup cooked ham, ground
Salt and pepper
Vegetable stock (onion)

Peel onions and remove tops. Simmer in salted water until almost tender; drain. Remove the centers without disturbing outer layers. Chop centers.

Melt 2 tablespoons drippings in skillet; add the minced onion, celery, and parsley. Cook a few minutes, add bread crumbs, ground ham, salt, pepper. Moisten with vegetable stock—water in which onions cooked—mix well. Fill onion shells.

Ham-Stuffed Onions
with Border of Baked Beans
Catsup Sauce
Lettuce, Raw Spinach, Apple and Raisin Salad
Orange Spanish Cream

Plentiful eggs in a creamy cooked custard make the Spanish cream. Thicken it with gelatin and add golden orange slices.

FOOD TIPS: There are strong onions and mild ones. Along these lines, onions are divided into two classes.

Onions have color classes too—four of them. They are white, yellow, brown or red.

The large, mild-flavored onions may be the Bermuda type. Or they may be Spanish or Valencia. The Bermuda type—which we're using stuffed today—is an early variety marketed in the spring.

Bermudas are both white and yellow. They vary in size. But they're generally about two and a half inches in diameter.

In buying onions, select those with bright clean skin. Watch for signs of decay—moisture and darkening at the neck. Avoid onions with a sprouting stem—which is waste that has to be trimmed away.
